Secretary Of State Marshall And Wife Fly To Puerto Rico

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 15 (AP) — Ailing Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Mrs. Marshall left by plane today for a vacation in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The General was in good spirits as he left his resort home here. He told friends that "I'm going there for a rest."

They boarded an air force Constellation plane at Pope Field, Fort Bragg, about 10 a. m., (EST). With them were Sgt. Jim George, the General's attendant, and Mrs. Marshall's Chinese maid, Anna.

Gen. Marshall is recuperating from a recent kidney operation.

The Marshalls said they planned to remain at San Juan for several weeks. They will be housed at Tenth Naval district headquarters.

Arrangements for the "vacation trip" were made while the General was a patient in Walter Reed hospital last December. He said today that President Truman suggested the trip.

Only last Wednesday, President Truman made a surprise flight here to visit the ailing General. The President's aides said at that time it would be the last chance the President would have to talk in person with the secretary before the latter's resignation becomes effective.

Session At Lansing Has 162 Lobbyists

County Road Commissions Lead List With 79

Lansing, Jan. 15 (AP)—The county road commissions of Michigan again have by far the largest number of lobbyists concentrating on the 1949 legislative session.

The official list of registered lobbyists, published today by the state department, showed 79 men representing various county road commissions, their state organization and affiliated groups.

Labor and business run almost neck and neck in lobby representation. Labor unions listed 16 lobbyists and business 17.

There are 162 lobbyists registered so far, the department said.

In contrast to the large group of state officials who registered as lobbyists two years under the urging of Governor Sigler, who fathered the system, this year there are only two lobbyists representing "the people."

One is Clinton H. Fair, Governor Williams legislative contact man, and the other is deputy secretary of state Harold E. Bradshaw.

Educational interests have eight lobbyists listed, Wayne county four, farmers three, cities five, small loan companies four, bus and truck firms four, veterans one, and insurance firms four.

Memory Goes Blank For Wisconsin Girl After Car Smashup

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—A pretty 'teen-aged high school girl returned today to the Wisconsin home she says she cannot remember.

The girl, Betty Holforty, 17, has insisted that her memory is a blank since her car rolled over on a highway near here Thursday.

She was released from a hospital late Friday and, with her father, Glenn Holforty, returned to Wauwatosa, Wis. He is an industrial engineer there.

Betty had been reported missing last Tuesday.

Holforty said she gave no sign of recognizing him when he arrived at her bedside late Thursday. Nor did she recognize a photograph of her 15-year-old brother, Keith, he added.

ACHESON GETS OKAY — Senate confirmation of the appointment of Dean Acheson (right) as secretary of state appeared certain today as Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan (left) lined up behind the nominee.

Vandenberg told reporters he is preparing a brief speech of approval for Tuesday, when Chairman Connally (D-Tex) (center) said the matter will be brought before the Senate.

Vandenberg apparently was satisfied with Acheson's expression of views on world questions at yesterday's closed committee sessions.

But there seemed little likelihood that his relations with Acheson will approach for some time the intimate basis on which the Michigan senator and Secretary of State Marshall dealt in handling international problems.

Allies May Coax Sweden Off Fence To Join Cold War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Jan. 15. (AP)—Officials expressed hope today that a new "allies only" label on American arms will coax Sweden off the neutrality fence in the cold war against Russia.

State Department Press Officer Michael McDermott told a news conference yesterday that the United States cannot spare military equipment for nations unwilling to enter a defense alliance against Communist expansion.

Officials said that was aimed straight at Sweden, where press reports have taken the opposite tack. Sweden has suggested that her northern neighbors cold-shoulder western alliance bids and join her instead in a policy of strict neutrality.

The state department followed up McDermott's statement with an announcement that last summer Sweden received 30 P-51 fighter planes which are no longer in operating condition but which can be used to replace parts in planes the Swedes already own.

Stockholm reports said earlier this week that Sweden had urged Norway and Denmark to spurn the projected North Atlantic military alliance for an iron-clad Scandinavian military pact. In any case, Sweden indicated, she would remain aloof from the treaty being negotiated by the United States, Canada and five European nations.

But even the Scandinavian alliance plan was regarded by diplomatic authorities here as a long step in Swedish policy, which once called for strict no-alliance neutrality.

State department officials reportedly feel that in today's divided world such a purely Scandinavian defensive arrangement would not work.

The policy of the western powers has been to block Soviet aggression by aligning friendly nations in critical areas of the world into a defensive barrier against Communism.

Taft-Hartley Law Strategy Charted

Drive To Block Repeal Begun By GOP Team

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Republican Senators Taft of Ohio and Ives of New York today charted strategy to block the drive for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

The goal of the GOP team, as outlined by Ives, is to trim from the law certain features most objectionable to its administration foes, as well as some backers. President Truman has asked Congress to replace Taft-Hartley with an "improved" Wagner Act—the Labor Relations law passed in 1937.

Ives told reporters that he suggested to Taft, a co-author of the controversial measure now on the books, that their starting point be a bill which the Senate Labor committee approved 11 to 2 in 1947.

Ives said Taft "raised no objection."

Taft says he is confident that all the major Taft-Hartley provisions will survive the repeal drive. But he apparently is willing to modify or get rid of some others to win votes for what he regards as the essential sections.

No New York Police In Truman Parade; Criticism Avoided

New York, Jan. 15. (AP)—Despite the reported wishes of President Truman, New York's squadrons of motorcycle policemen won't take part in the inauguration parade in Washington Thursday.

Possible "political criticism" is given as the reason, by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Soon after Mr. Truman's election, the mayor said, the president had expressed a desire that New York's motorcycle men, who led his campaign tours through the city last November, participate in the inaugural parade.

RAISE DISAPPEARS

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 15 (AP)—This one burned Kingston's firemen. They got a pay hike last June that figured out at $600 a year. Their first 1949 pay checks showed yesterday without the extra money. The city explained: "that raise was just for 1948."

Thief Tosses 99 $7 Silk Shirts In Detroit River

Detroit, Jan. 15 (AP)—Earl C. Ferrell, 27, threw 99 seven-dollar silk shirts into the Detroit River, government counsel said in federal court yesterday.

He lost his nerve, it was alleged, after giving away six of 105 stolen shirts to relatives.

Ferrell, an express company truck driver, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft from the mails and was held for sentence.

Small Fire Fatal To Mason Woman, 41

Mason, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—Selina Vercuysee, 41, was fatally burned Friday in a small fire in the basement of her home here.

Her husband, Victor, 43, suffered minor injuries.

Questioned by sheriff's officers, Vercuysee said his wife accidently knocked over a can of painting fluid in the basement. It splashed on her and onto a gas water heater, which ignited the fluid.

Mrs. Vercuysee died Friday night in a hospital.

Home Town to Send $5,000 Bible For Truman Inaugural

Independence, Mo., Jan. 15 (AP)—President Truman will rest his left hand on a bible furnished by his home town when he takes the oath of office Thursday.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday underwrote the cost of the bible—$5,000.

A two-volume work with an estimated weight of 25 pounds, bound in Morocco leather, the bible is an exact replica of the original Gutenberg bible printed about 1456. The bible is one of 300 printed in 1913-14 at Leipzig, Germany.

The president has approved use of the bible.

Indonesians See No Real Peace Until Dutch Army Leaves

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, Jan. 15 (AP) — An Indonesian spokesman said today there never will be real peace in the islands unless Dutch soldiers are withdrawn quickly from Indonesian Republican territory.

By quickly, this spokesman said, he means within a week.

Indonesian and Netherlands representatives are studying a rough plan for a settlement reported drawn up by the United States and backed by China, Norway and Egypt so far.

The plan was said to have been examined with interest by British delegates late yesterday while the security council heard another round of speeches in the Indonesian case. The council adjourned until 3 p. m. (EST) Monday, with no indication whether a resolution would be placed before it at that time.

The United States plan was said to contain these main points:

1. The Dutch and the Indonesian forces to discontinue immediately all military action.

2. The Dutch to release immediately all political prisoners arrested since the latest military action began last month.

3. The progressive withdrawal of Dutch troops from territory of the Republic of Indonesia under supervision of a commission on Indonesia. This commission would in effect be a stronger version of the present committee of good offices, made uup of the U. S., Belgium and Australia.

4. Establishment of a temporary federal government of the United States of Indonesia by March 15, 1949.

5. Elections by Oct. 1, 1949 to choose a constituent assembly, out of which would come the government of the U. S. of Indonesia.

6. Transfer of sovereignty by the Netherlands to the United States of Indonesia not later than April 1, 1950. All Dutch forces would be out of Indonesia before that date.

Race Rioting Kills 300 In South Africa

Blacks And Indians Clash At Durban; 400 Injured

(By The Associated Press)

Durban, Union of South Africa, Jan. 15 (AP)—Terrified Indians fled from Durban today as race rioting which already has claimed an estimated 300 lives blazed up in the suburbs.

The fighting, between native blacks and the Indians, a minority group in South Africa, has been in progress since Thursday. Indians and natives alike have been burned and stoned to death and shot. Entire Indian families have been wiped out. The city's Indian quarter has been wrecked.. Some of the natives chanted Zulu battle cries as they fought.

Intervention by South African armed forces has slowed but not halted the rioting.

At least 400 persons have been injured. One European (white) was killed and a dozen were injured. They have not, however, been generally involved in the rioting. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

Police organized areas of refuge for the Indians, who are immigrants or descendants of immigrants from the Asian sub-continent.

Grudge-Killer Son Travels 2200 Miles To Murder Father

Painesville, O., Jan. 15 (AP)—A 19-year-old AWOL soldier was held on a murder charge today after calmly telling police he traveled 2,200 miles to commit the "grudge" slaying of his father.

County Prosecutor Thomas H. Blakely said the youth, Pvt. William Hill, would be arraigned today.

Hill, AWOL from Fort Ord, Calif., gave himself up in Cleveland yesterday seven hours after he fatally shot his father, James E. Hill, 48, and clubbed his stepmother, Mrs. Alta Hill, 49.

Police Captain Joseph Skala of Cleveland said Hill declared in his confession he and his father had borne a mutual grudge dating back to the youth's childhood. The soldier said this developed after his father placed him in a detention home.

The elder Hill, a worker in the Diamond Alkali Co. here, died of six pistol bullet wounds. His wife is expected to recover.

Hill drove to Cleveland later and gave himself up.

Death of Two Ends Tavern Argument

Cleveland, Jan. 15. (AP)—A tavern argument early today ended in the fatal shooting of a 42-year-old woman on a street corner and the gunman's suicide a few minutes later, Police Inspector Patrick Lenahan reported.

Mrs. Florence Vandecar died of one bullet wound in the heart. Shortly afterward Slavo Braskich, 61, shot himself in the head with the same gun, Lenahan said.

The pair had been seen together frequently in the West 29th street neighborhood where the shooting occurred, Lenahan added.

Tightened Laws Asked To Banish Spies From U. S.

By JACK ADAMS

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP) — A sweeping revision of the espionage laws has been proposed by Attorney General Clark as protection against "the treacherous operations of those who would weaken our nation internally."

He asked Congress for unprecedented peacetime power to press spy charges no matter how long ago the offense occurred, and said law officers should have the legal right to tap wires for evidence in such cases.

The bill Clark sent last night to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Judiciary Committee embodied the unanimous recommendations of an interdepartmental committee made up of FBI, Army and Navy intelligence experts.

Their submission to Congress follows an 18-month investigation by a special federal grand jury in New York City into alleged foreign spying in this country, and a lengthy and sensational inquiry into the same subject by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Besides the request for power to get evidence by tapping wires and by-pass the statute of limitations in spy cases, he asked changes in the espionage laws to:

1. Make the unauthorized possession of restricted government documents a felony.

2. Require the surrender of such documents to proper authorities without demand.

3. Make illegal the unauthorized handling of national defense information which could be used "to the advantage of any foreign nation"—instead of requiring intent to injure the United States, as at present.

4. Punish failure to report the loss, theft, "abstraction, destruction or unlawful transmission" of restricted information.

5. Punish conspiracies involved in the gathering, transmission or loss of defense information.

6. Require the registration as foreign agents of all persons in this country who ever received instructions or training in espionage and sabotage under a foreign government "or foreign political party."

7. Make the failure to so register a continuing offense—to remove any possibility an offender could fall back on the three-year statute of limitations.

8. Require the surrender of radio, telegraph and other communications records to authorized agents of the government in connection with investigations involving the national security.

9. Make permanent the wartime laws providing $5,000 fine and one year imprisonment for violating military orders aimed at protecting the nation's aircraft, airfields, ships, harbors, ports or other water front facilities.

Egyptians Dicker Peace With Jews

By L. S. CHAKALES

Rhodes, Jan. 15 (AP)—Egyptians began negotiations today for the release of an estimated 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped by Israeli forces at Faluja, in Palestine's Negev desert.

This was the second major item on the agenda for armistice negotiations aimed at ending Israeli-Egyptian warfare and bringing full peace to the Holy Land.

Both sides agreed yesterday, in conferences under the eye of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the United Nations acting Palestine mediator, to halt all offensive military operations during the period of the talks and to respect each other's national security.

Spokesmen said details of the armistice preamble adopted yesterday would not be made public until the discussions end—perhaps next week.

Point No. 2 of the agenda calls for implementation of the security council resolution of Nov. 4 and Nov. 16, which ordered both Jews and Arabs to withdraw to positions held Oct. 14 and to negotiate for peace.

The withdrawal order to the Egyptians actually was just a gesture. Jewish troops had driven them back, mile after mile, since launching their Oct. 15 offensive and were hammering at Egyptian border positions when cease fire orders came last week.

Specific topics to be taken up under point No. 2 include the question of what is to be done about the Faluja pocket, where a 3,000-man Egyptian brigade is trapped by Jewish siege lines. Previous efforts to settle that case fell through.

Rich Widow, 90, Weds Her Negro Servant; Strictly Business

Los Angeles, Jan. 15 (AP)—A "strictly business" marriage unfolded today for a wealthy, wheel-chaired widow, 90, and her Negro chauffeur, 28.

After three judges and a minister had refused to tie the unusual matrimonial knot, Mrs. Adriana Eugenie Nicholson and her chauffeur-cook of seven years, Allen Lee Gustard Woods, were wed last night by a Negro pastor.

The Rev. M. Frederick, pastor of the Cosmopolitan Christian church, performed the ceremony in the parlor of his home.

The elderly bride, bedecked with gardenias, was wheeled to the ceremony. After it was performed, Woods told reporters: "This is not a love match; it's strictly business."

Mrs. Nicholson earlier observed: "this is to be more of a contract than a marriage—I want him to have my property when I die."

France and Britain Agree on Problems Which Affect World

London, Jan. 15 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today Britain and France have reached an agreement providing hope for the world.

He had conferred here for two days with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

"We achieved a great agreement which augurs well not only for France and Britain, but for Europe and the world," Bevin told newsmen after saying farewell to Schuman at Victoria Station.

There was no announcement of the specific details of the agreement. Schuman told a news conference last night, however, that he and Bevin had covered the whole range of world problems common to the two nations.

Paratrooper Saves 36 In Plane Crash

Men Prodded To Jump; 3 Crewmen Killed

Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 15 (AP)—A veteran paratrooper prodded 36 trainees out of a stricken "flying boxcar" and then rode the ship until it crashed and burned. The crew of three was killed.

Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkiss of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, the 26-year-old jump master, who was unhurt, told interviewers:

"I heard the jump bell and knew there was trouble because we were only halfway to the drop zone. The other guys knew it too but they were calm.

"We didn't have time to final check parachute harness. I just yelled 'standup! hookup! jump!'"

The 36 men cleared the plane yesterday in about seven seconds, using doors on both sides, Hodgkiss said.

After his men "hit the silk," the 24-year-old combat veteran said the plane was too low for him to jump.

"I braced, sat down in a canvas jump seat, and thought 'this is it. What of my wife and child?'"

The beetle-bodied plane, a C-92, sloughed into the scrub pine and sandhills and "we probably would have made it except for two lousy trees," the sergeant said.

The plane sheared off one tree at the base and uprooted another and then caught fire.

"I ran to the front of the plane and got one of the crewmen out of the burning compartment but it was too late. He was dead," Hodgkiss related.

Swap Of Peninsula State Lands Held Up After Protests

Lansing, Jan. 15 (AP)—A proposed exchange of Upper Peninsula state lands for federal lands was in abeyance today following strong protests.

The commission yesterday decided it would not "ram this down their throats" though the commission disagreed with protests of Upper Peninsula spokesmen that their counties would lose revenue by the exchange.

Setting the beaver and otter trapping season for 1949, the commission continued the two-year-old closed season in the Upper Peninsula and extended the Lower Peninsula season seven days. The 11-day season will open at noon March 20. Bag limits will be five beaver and two otter.

Leak Boosts Prices For Fats And Oils

Government Attempts To Track Down Tip-Off

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government is trying to find out who tipped off traders a week ago that the agriculture department was going to boost its export allocation of food fats and oils for this quarter.

When news got out that the government was going to hike overseas shipments of these items by 107,000,000 pounds prices of some fats and oils went up.

There was no indication that that the government itself suffered financial loss because it has not yet gone into the market for that part of the fat allocation which it supplies occupied Germany and other areas.

The official announcement of the extra export allocation was made yesterday. It called for 109,000,000 pounds of lard, cottonseed oil, soy beans, soy bean oil and peanuts in addition to the regular allocations previously announced for the January-March period.

Now officials want to know where the leak developed. Export allocation plans are kept strictly secret to prevent speculation on commodity markets. The allocations are determined by the agriculture and commerce departments, with help from the state and defense departments.

Anchorage Airman Lands On Ice Cake

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 15 (AP)—A floating rectangle of ice, 50 by 100 feet, gave Lt. Robert Sprowl all the landing field he needed when the engine of his small plane conked out over Cook inlet yesterday.

The plane ground-looped as it touched the ice, but Sprowl crawled out unhurt.

Fellow members of the Tenth Rescue Squadron located Sprowl and took him off the ice with a helicopter.

Fall Of Great City May Be Last Blow For Chiang Kai-Shek

Gateway To North China Devastated By Reds

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Shanghai, Jan. 15 (AP) — The great commercial city of Tientsin, battered by Communist shells and afire in several places, fell to Chinese Reds today in what may be the crowning blow to Chiang Kai-shek.

Victorious troops of Red Gen. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria, seized the burning city after a fierce artillery barrage that devastated old landmarks and many buildings.

Radio reports from the "gateway to north China" described city of 3,000,000 as one of death and desolation.

Many civilians were killed. Hospitals were jammed with wounded.

Americans All Safe

Robert Smyth of Berkeley, Calif., U. S. consul general, radioed that all of his staff was safe.

"So far as can be ascertained all other Americans (about 80 in number) are safe," Smyth radioed.

Down broad Victoria road, which winds through the heart of the former British concession, the Red conquerors marched, stopping in front of the U. S. consulate to fire their rifles into the air.

Before the United States information service office in the former French concession, a few blocks away, they stopped and fired their rifles in to air again as Americans watched from the roof of the building.

Confirmation of Tientsin's fall came in messages received in Nanking.

Peiping Next

Peiping, 90 miles northeast of Tientsin and headquarters of Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, nationalist China commander, reported that the Reds had entered Tientsin.

Victory at Tientsin frees Lin's troops for an all out assault on the port of Tangku, 27 miles down the Hai river, and Taku, rail terminal, opposite Tanku on the river front.

Czech Schoolbooks Made Over By Reds

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 15 (AP)—New "mass production" textbooks will be introduced into all Czechoslovak schools by September. The texts are written by groups of pedagogues to replace books written by single authors.

Literature, poetry and history books will be the first to be introduced. It is said the new texts will emphazise practical usefulness and show "progressive tendencies."

Many of the old books were tossed out by the Communist government because they did not stress the role which government leaders now say the Soviet Union played in helping Czechoslovakia.

Food Airlift Ends For South Dakotans

Rapid City, S. D., Jan. 15 (AP)—Western South Dakotans were receiving food by orthodox means today after an "airlift" had come to their rescue following a blizzard.

Tons of Red Cross food were flown to towns and ranches, cut off by mountainous drifts. Private planes and two Denver-based air force planes and a helicopter had been pressed into service.

Richard S. Hanson, Red Cross field man, said yesterday the emergency is apparently over.

U. P. AGENCY GROUP MEETS

Representatives Give Reports On Work

A group of some 25 people from twenty-five state, county, federal and private agencies met Friday at the Delta hotel. This group which has been meeting for the past year or more has as it object the dissemination of knowledge regarding the resources available in a community to meet community needs and to better acquaint themselves with the services offered by agencies serving the Upper Peninsula.

Among those attending were Chas. Follo, Director of Extension Service for the University of Michigan in the Northern Peninsula, Charles Burton, chairman of the Delta County Planning Committee, H. C. Heathman, Soil Conservation Expert from the United State Department of Agriculture, Denis Clanahan, Extension Service of Michigan State College, Jos. Heirman, County Agriculture Agent for Delta county, Richard Thompson, Scout Executive from Marquette, Edmund Kot, Scout Executive from Escanaba, George Gilbert, Department of Public Instruction from Marquette, Jos. Shipman, Supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation from the Department, of Public Instruction, Miss Evelyn Coleman, Nursing Consultant, Michigan Dept. of Health, Mrs. Jos. Herbert of Manistique, Library Trustee, Miss Bernice Blodget, Nursing Consultant for the Michigan Crippled Children Commission, Miss Sleanor McGarvan, Medical Social Worker from the same agency, Miss Helen Kremer, Upper Peninsula representative of the State Library, Miss Viola Olson, and Sylvester Vaughan of the State Department of Social Welfare, Mrs. Louise Rydholm, Exec. Secretary of the Michigan Childrens Aid Society, Miss Mary G. O'Neil, Social Worker of the Holy Family Orphan's Home of Marquette, Dr. Wm. C. Harrison of the Delta-Menominee county Health Department and Miss Anderson from the SMAE organization, Miss Gwen Andrew of the Department of Mental Health, and R. G. Mulchahey, Childrens Division of the State Department of Social Welfare who is chairman of the group.

Charles Burton, chairman of the Delta County Planning Committee, talked to the group regarding the formation of the Delta County Committee, explaining why it was formed and what the committee has done in the past and what their objects are at the present time, this group is interested in the acquiring of water frontage for public use, the extension of telephone service to rural areas and in county government. The committee is county wide and is interested in those projects which affect the county as a whole.

Joseph Shipman of the Division of Rehabilitation explained the possible plan which is still in the discussion stage of establishing a vocational rehabiliation training center some place in the Upper Peninsula where handicapped persons could be trained in trades and in ways to be self supporting. It is hoped that such a center can be set up to serve the Upper Peninsula in the not too distant future.

Miss Evelyn Coleman of the Department of Health spoke of the training program of the health department which is training practical nurses at the present time and went on to explain that it is hoped that legislation can be passed which will set standards for practical nurses and also license those qualified to do practical nursing. At the present time there is a fairly large group being trained in practical nursing, the academic material being taught at Graeveret high school in Marquette and the practical experience and training being given at the Ishpeming hospital. There is a great demand for practical nurses and this program is trying to meet that need.

Charles Follo explained the Community Self Help Group meetings which are to be held at Newberry, Gladstone, Crystal Falls and Lake Linden early in February. These are group meeting bringing together persons who are interested in community or area projects and attempting to help these groups to meet these problems, consultants from various state agencies as well as personnel from the state university and college are to be brought in at the time of the group meeting.

R. G. Mulchahey gave a brief report of the Governors Conference on Youth which was held in Lansing in November and he also made available to the group copies of the proceedings of this conference.

Richard E. Trudell Completes Course

Fort Knox, Ky.—Recruit Richard E. Trudell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Trudell, Escanaba, Mich., was graduated this week from the Third Armored Division Leaders' Course.

The six-week course trains potential non-commissioned officers in a new procedure adopted by the Army to assure the highest caliber of leaders. Soldiers who have shown outstanding qualities of leadership are admitted to the school, commanded by Lt. Col. Earl W. Kent.

The Third Armored Division is now commanded by Major General Roderick R. Allen, wartime commander of the 12th Armored Division.

Prior to entering the service September 3, 1948, he attended Escanaba High School from which he was graduated with the class of 1947.

Sgt. David J. Naser Is MATS Technician

Washington, D. C. — Sergeant David J. Naser, U. S. Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Naser of Wilson, Mich., is now serving as a statistical technician in the Office of the Comptroller at Headquarters, Military Air Transport Service, Washington, D. C.

Prior to entering the service, Sergeant Naser attended Harris high school, Harris, Mich. He enlisted in the U. S. Air Force in January 1947 and received his basic training at San Antonio, Tex. He later graduated from Key Punch Machine Operators School at Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Sergeant Naser reported for duty with the Air Transport Command in May 1947.

The Air Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service merged to form the Military Air Transport Service (MATS) in June 1948.

With a little study, the Big Dipper can serve both as a clock and a calendar.

Dr. Clarence Olson Dies In Florida

Dr. Clarence Olson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olson of Escanaba, died at Palm Beach, Fla., Friday after a brief illness. He was about 55 years old.

Dr. Olson was born in Escanaba. He practiced in Ironwood and Escanaba for a few years, and moved to Palm Beach about twenty years ago. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ida Dalton of Palm Beach, a brother, Chester Olson of Harrisburg, Pa., and two children.

Funeral services will be held at the Mizell & Simon funeral home in West Palm Beach Sunday afternoon.

Airline On Daily Schedule During Sonja Henie Show

HIS GRANDPA HATED NOISE

Ruark Tells About Old And New Phonographs

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York,—My grandpa was a man who purely hated unnecessary noise, which was natural enough, since he had lived with Miss Ca'Line, his wife, for some 50 years, and hence had considerable experience in the decibel department.

Grandpa didn't mind natural noise, like thunder, because a thunderstorm often prevented us from gallivanting around. This meant that grandpa was momentarily off the hook as the principal target of Miss Ca'Line's critical interest. Grandpa didn't mind a cow mooing or a dog barking, either. They were natural noises. What grandpa loathed and despised was contrived noise—on-purpose noise.

The old boy pops into mind as a result of RCA Victor's new recording project, which demands a new turntable for a new, long-playing record. Since Columbia has one, too—but of a different R. P. M. rate—a true phonograph fan needs three different sets of apparatus, Victor's Columbia's and the old faithful 78 R. P. M., or standard player.

All this would have driven grandpa nuts, if any shred of sanity remained after being subjected to television, ordinary radio, and frequency modulation. Grandpa's home-made fiddle provided him with all the esthetic relaxation he craved. Anything outside that fiddle was noise.

We had an old Victor gramophone, a crank-up job that played one record at a time. The cranking machinery finally became so decrepit that you had to re-wind it in the middle of the number, or the needle couldn't make it all the way across the face of the disk. Grandpa regarded that machine as a sworn enemy, and he used to sit around and sneer at it.

"Listen at the dodlimb thing," grandpa would say to himself. "Sounds like a nest of tomcats on a May night. Can you imagine paying good money for a thing like that when you can get the same noise out of a turpentined pup?"

The old gentleman hated two selections—both very popular—above all others. One was "Three O'Clock In the Morning," and the other was "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Grandpa regarded the first piece as immoral. He held with early retirement.

"Three O'Clock In the Morrrrnin", grandpa would mimic, bitterly, "and nary a drop to drink," he would chant into his beard. "Bananas" he regarded as sheer barbaric stupidity, and I have often been glad he never lived to hear "The Music Goes Round and Round" and "Mairzie Doats." I don't think his blood pressure could have stood it.

BLIND NEWSMAN GETS FREE TRIP

Sells Papers In Green Bay 17 Years

Green Bay— (AP) —Roy Bertrand, 56, today set aside the newspapers he can't read to make a trip to California.

The blind man who has been selling papers on Washington street here for 17 years is going to visit his brother because Otto Kaap, local restaurant owner, thinks Roy has been good.

It was over a year ago that Bertrand mentioned his brother, Arthur, in Venice, Calif., to Kaap.

"Maybe if you're good we'll send you out there," the restaurant owner promised.

Recently Roy got an invitation from Arthur to come to California. Kaap remembered his promise and furnished a round-trip railroad ticket. The waitresses in his cafe chipped in and bought a new suitcase for their blind friend.

Roy will make the 3,000-mile trip alone, but a train stewardess will look after hm. Arthur will be waiting for him at Los Angeles. The two haven't met since 1939.

The blind man isn't unaccustomed to train trips. He's made several visits alone to Menominee, Mich., where his sister lives.

Roy isn't sure just when he'll be back on Washington street. The return part of his ticket is good for 90 days.

'PORKIES' NOT FUSSY EATERS

Usually Prefer Munching On Large Trees

Since porcupines feed on forest trees and seem to derive both nutrition and satisfaction from chewing off the bark, they are not generally considered fussy eaters. They are known to prefer certain species, however, and recent studies by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, St. Paul, indicate they prefer a big dinner table to a small one.

Observations in 10- to 15-year old Scotch pine plantations in northeastern Minnesota showed that the porkies hardly bothered with trees less than 3 inches in diameter at breast height, but chewed away happily on nearly 15 per cent of those 3 to 4 inches in diameter, on 30 per cent of those measuring 5 to 6 inches, and on 50 per cent of those of 7-inch diameter. Favorite dish seemed to be any tree over 3 inches in diameter and 13 feet in height.

Studies of jack pine plantations in northern Wisconsin and Scotch pine plantations in lower Michigan have confirmed preferences indicated for trees above this minimum size. Observations in 30- to 40-year old plantations further corroborate the porcupine's expensive taste for the larger, more vigorous trees.

The practical value of the observations, Paul C. Rudolf, Station Silviculturist, points out is this: Plantations of species which porcupines like, such as jack pine, white pine, or tamarack, probably will need protection, where porcupines are common, beginning about the time the trees reach 3 inches in diameter. Needs and plans for control can, therefore, be determined before damage actually starts.

Other studies reported in technical notes issued by the station January 13 and available to woodland owners and timber operators concern 1) annual growth by tree species and age classes in a managed pine forest, 2) distribution of various sizes of bolts or cut products in Lake States pulpwood stands, and 3) unsatisfactory tree growth as the result of heavy spot-seeding.

Hillsdale Sociology Professor Is Tramp

SCHOLARLY HOBO—Prof. Jesse Walter Dees, Jr., head of Hillsdale (Mich.) College's sociology department, steps from a freight car as he arrives from one of his "field trips" disguised as a hobo. The professor has spent part of the last 15 years living among tramps and hoboes in order to study their way of life. He recently published his experiences in a book entitled "Flophouse." (AP Photo)

Hillsdale, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—It's no joke when Hillsdale college students call their sociology professor a tramp. He is one, sometimes.

Prof. Jesse Walter Dees, jr., is in fact an experienced hobo, a skilled rider of the rods and a veteran flophouse patron.

He has drunk countless cups of blackish mission coffee, rubbed patched elbows with thousands of seedy vagrants and been chased by more than one outraged yard bull.

And all this the wandering head of Hillsdale's sociology department has done in the cause of learning.

For Professor Dees, as one of America's top anthorities on the ways and problems of homeless men, has always believed that the way to learn something is to live it. Thus to learn about the wandering unemployed he became one of them. And out of the jungle camps, sweltering freight cars and dingy shelters of his experience he wrote a book.

"Flophouse," the professor's newly-published treatise on America's vagrants, was born from the careful notes that Dees made while disguised as a nomad.

To keep his identity as a scholar hidden, he secreted the notes in a zipper pocket in his underwear. From time to time he would mail a new batch to his wife who was patiently keeping the home fires burning. Then he would return to his bums and bindle stiffs for more authentic Americana.

This rugged form of research began for Dees in the early 1930's when he was a student at Illinois Wesleyan college in Bloomington, Ill.

After he was graduated in 1935, he went to Northwestern for a Master's Degree. There, gaining much of his material by talking with hundreds of wanderers, Dees wrote a thesis on Chicago's aid for vagrants.

On leaving school, Dees broadened his "research." During his spare time he "went on the bum," turning tramp and panhandler. He rode the rods to the big cities, slept in their crawling flophouses and talked to the bleary, forgotten men who inhabited them.

On such trips the scholar became for all appearances a hobo himself. His beard grew long and he wore rough clothes and talked in the language of vagrants. He stood patiently, eyes to the ground, and listened to the pleas of evangelists and reformers. He plodded up and down New York's Bowery. In the hoboes' jungle camps alongside the railroad tracks he brewed coffee in an old tin can. He even took the pauper's oath in a Chicago public relief shelter.

Once in Chicago he was recognized. A group of his former classmates were making a field trip through a shelter when they came face to face with him.

"They stood staring at a distance, huddled together, whispering and pointing at me," he recalled later. "Some of them knew me well enough to call me by my first name. They really thought I had gone to the dogs."

Having lived among the wanderers and derelicts, Dees sorts them expertly into three classes—hoboes, tramps and bums.

"The hobo is a migratory worker and a necessary part of our agricultural economy," he explains. "He deserves better than he gets. Local and national government should recognize his worth and willingness to work, providing him with decent shelters and low-cost, nourishing meals in the harvest centers.

"The tramp is a panhandler, working only when forced to do so. He is an irresponsible dreamer, a teller of tall stories and has been on the road for many years," according to the author. Dees recommends they be given psychiatric help, but attacks the practice of arresting them.

Dees has little use for bums, the lowest of hobohemia's social order.

"He is virtually hopeless," the sociologist says, "usually well along in years, a confirmed alcoholic, filthy, often diseased, engaging in petty thievery." Dees recommends that bums be shut off from society "as a protection to the community."

Tons Of Milk, $2,808.50 Cash Received By CROP

A progress survey of the Christian Rural Overseas Program campaign in Delta county reveals that tons of milk and $2,808.50 in cash contributions have been made, it was reported today by the Delta CROP executive committee.

The committee met yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce office in Escanaba for a survey of what has so far been accomplished here in the nation-wide program to provide food for the starving in Europe. Not all of the township committees have completed their progress reports and only one township has a tentative report on the contributions of milk.

The Rev. Fr. Roland Dion of Flat Rock and the Rev. Serge Hummon of Rapid River are co-chairmen of the Delta CROP committee. Other committee members are J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, and the Rev. Gustav Lund of Escanaba.

Delta county's goal in the CROP campaign is one carload of canned milk. Townships in the county have been organized for the drive and canvassers have nearly completed their work in most of the 14 townships.

The committee urged canvassers to complete their task as soon as possible, so the county can come as close as possible to the CROP drive deadline established for Michigan. Canvassers were commended by the committee for the work they have done in a program designed to alleviate the suffering of undernourished persons, particularly women and children, in countries overseas.

Both Catholic and Protestant church groups are cooperating in sponsorship of CROP, and the churches will be responsible for the effective distribution of the food in European countries.

Thus far in the drive in Delta county the township chairmen have been unable to yet determine the total amount of milk contributed by farmers to CROP. This milk, through the cooperation of local milk buyers, will be received and credited to the contributor as a cash gift to CROP. A complete report on contributions, including milk and cash, will be forthcoming as soon as possible.

It is known that many tons of milk have been contributed. In addition to those is the cash received by the canvassers, reported by township chairmen as follows:

Cornell, Elmer Nelson chairman, $180.50; Brampton, Paul Beauchamp, chairman, $28.50; Baldwin, (west portion) Frank Falkies, chairman, $309.25; Baldwin, (east portion) Edwin Sealander, chairman, $318.75; Escanaba, Frank Barron, chairman, $186.30; Ensign, Harold Gustafson, chairman, $149.50; Bark River, Clarence Anderson, chairman, $517.75; Bay de Noc, Joe Peterson, chairman, $124.15; Masonville, Paul Bowers, chairman, $258.80; Nahma, Allen Mercier, chairman, $335; Fairbanks, Robert Watchorn, chairman, $400.

The total so far reported is $2,808.50. Not yet reporting are Maple Ridge, Wells, Ford River and Garden townships.

$80 Million In Red

THE REPORT of Governor Williams to the Michigan legislature that additional taxation is the only solution to the state's financial problem should not be surprising to anyone who has followed the financial difficulties of the state government in the past two years.

The condition cannot be blamed upon Gov. Williams as it is something that he has inherited. Neither can it be blamed upon his predecessor, Kim Sigler. Nor, for that matter, can it be blamed upon the state legislature, the one now in session or the legislature of the past two years.

The state's financial problem is the direst result of its system of earmarking tax receipts for specific purposes, all of which has been accomplished by direct vote of the people through the adoption of constitutional amendments. The one that has made the greatest impact upon the state's financial structure is the sales tax diversion amendment.

Today 60 cents of each tax dollar collected by the state government is earmarked for local governmental units. The state's struggle for financial solvency concerns only the other 40c of the tax dollar collected.

The only portion of the prospective deficit that can be traced to the governor is that portion embracing new expenditures that he is proposing, most of which is for social legislation.

The legislature probably will take some substantial whacks at the governor's budget proposals but it cannot whack it down sufficiently to avoid new taxes. The only other alternative is deficit financing, which solves nothing but merely postpones and actually aggravates the final solution.

Why Liquor Sales On Sunday?

SENATOR HENRY KOZAK of Detroit has announced that he may introduce a bill in the Michigan legislature to legalize the sale of hard liquor on Sundays in Michigan. Such a course of action would surely be met with vigorous opposition and would provide some stout ammunition for prohibitionists in the state.

Kozak indicated that he had not yet conferred with representatives of the Michigan Table Top Congress or other liquor groups regarding his plan, but indicated that he intends to do so. It is to be hoped that he will be dissuaded from introducing such legislation.

The proposal can only do harm to the liquor control problem in Michigan. It is extremely doubtful that the legislature would go along on such a proposal, anyway. There can be no sound arguments for the sale of liquor on Sundays. The present system is working out reasonably well and it should be left as it is.

The present law permits sale of beer and wine on Sundays under local option after 12 o'clock noon. That has been satisfactory to the working men and as far as we know there has not been any appreciable demand for the sale of liquor on Sundays.

British Gamble With War

EVER SINCE it came to power the British Labor government has been pursuing two contradictory policies. At home Prime Minister Attlee and his colleagues are steering a Socialist course aimed at helping the less privileged. But abroad they have followed the traditional line of Tory imperialism, except in the sub-continent of India. The only difference seems to be that this foreign policy is less graceful than it was under an out-and-out Tory regime.

The lack of grace is notable in the action which led to the Israelis' destruction of five British planes. Considerable mystery still surrounds that unhappy incident. The Israelis certainly are not blameless But still, what business did British planes have flying over an Israeli-Egyptian battlefield? That question was asked in Parliament.

The British answer is that this action was taken in accordance with the Anglo-Egyptian mutual defense pact. The answer for the whole policy in the Near East trouble is that Britain is trying to forestall any exploitation of Israeli success by Russia.

Those answers are not entirely logical Britain has protested to the UN against Israeli acts which are the consequence of Britain's obstructions of UN decisions in the Palestine matter. Yet by assembling forces in Egypt and Trans-Jordan and sending military planes to photograph Israeli troop positions, Britain gives notice that it considers its obligations to the United Nations a poor second to its obligations to the aggressor Arab states.

The excuse of preventive action against possible Russian exploitation is also devious. Russia, like the United States and the majority of other UN members, voted for Jewish independence. But neither Russia nor the others have given Israel any military help.

Now the British government is making warlike gestures in the Near East. Does it hope to bluff Russia out of coming to Israel's aid by threatening military help to the Arabs that might destroy the Jewish state? If Russia refused to be bluffed and did enter the war on Israel's side, does the British government think it could win? Or does it hope to enlist the support of the U. S. and risk a third war?

Sen. Taft Changes His Mind

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY project got its greatest lift in years Thursday when Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, a leading opponent of the plan last year, announced that he will support the project when it comes before the Senate in this session.

Senator Taft was perhaps more responsible for the defeat of the seaway in the 80th Congress than any other man. He was then the recognized majority leader in the Senate on all domestic matters. Furthermore, he came from a state that bordered the Great Lakes and normally would be expected to be aligned with proponents of the project. His opposition was a tremendous factor in bringing about the defeat of the project.

Mr. Taft presents two reasons for his change in attitude regarding the St. Lawrence project. First, he says that if the government is about to embark upon a spending program, we should at least put our money into something worthwhile. Also, he reports that Ohio steel companies are now favorably inclined because of the discovery of valuable iron ore fields in Labrador and Quebec.

Still another cause for optimism that the seaway plan will receive senatorial approval at this session is the fact that of those senators who vote dagainst the project a year ago, 11 were defeated in November while only four of the seaway supporters are missing from the senatorial roll this year.

The St. Lawrence seaway and power development project never looked brighter for congressional approval than it does now.

VA HOSPITAL CUTBACK
(Grand Rapids Press)

The proposed Grand Rapids veterans hospital is one of twenty-four such institutions to be eliminated from the veterans administration's building program, it has been announced. Fourteen other projected hospitals will be smaller than had been planned.

This cutback, it is explained, comes as the result of President Truman's request that the VA hospital program be reduced by 25 per cent. Actually the cut seems to be deeper than that. At last reports VA was contemplating building 90 more hospitals.

Already there has been some protest against the cutback, but the fact still remains that despite it VA hospital facilities will be more than ample to meet either present or prospective future needs. The public can be sure that Mr. Truman would not have recommended the step unless thorough study had convinced him that the federal hospital program could be whittled down without fear of hardship. It is more than likely, too, that the president was at least partly influenced in his decision by the report of the Hoover commission showing the waste and lack of planning in the federal hospital program.

Whether the cut has gone as deeply as it should go is still in doubt. In view of the fact that existing VA hospitals have been taking care of the demand adequately, it may be questioned whether even 60 or 65 new hospitals are needed. Congress ought not to neglect reviewing the Hoover report on the entire situation merely because of this latest move. If, as the commission has suggested, there are ways of economizing in the federal hospital program while still assuring proper hospital treatment for veterans some further action seems obviously indicated.

Some folks who claim they have open minds should close them up a while for repairs.

Getting nowhere makes a person sick of letting well enough alone.

Take My Word For It . . Frank Colby

A CLEARINGHOUSE OF WORD QUESTIONS

St. Paul: An article in a business magazine speaks of a certain man as an "entrepreneur." Will you please discuss?—M. C

Answer: Entrepreneur is a French loan word. It means "an employer of productive labor; one who undertakes to carry out any enterprise." The English pronunciation is: AHN-truh-pruh-NER'.

Dayton: Won't you please tell Louella Parsons that an unconscious person is not in a comma?—H. T. D.

Answer: Louella, tch, tch! A comma (KOM-uh) is a period that wagging its tail behind it, like this: (,). A coma is a state of profound unconsciousness. It's pronounced: KOE-muh. Catch on?

Avon Lake: A friend always says, "Please expliferate yourself more clearly." Is it Latin?—E. F.

Answer: There is no such word as "expliferate."

Visalia: From a newspaper article: "Being as it has never moved a food. . ." Is that good English?—I. P. M.

Answer: No. It's dialectal to begin a sentence with "being as" as "being as how." Avoid it by all means.

Cleveland: Please discuss the world ribald.—Mrs. J. H. W.

Answer: Ribald means "offensive; coarse obscene." It should not rhyme with "piebald." Rhyme it with "dribbled." Say: RIB-uld.

Jersey: I've been scolded for saying "pung-kin pie." Must I pronounce it "pump-kin"?—J. L.

Answer: The pronunciation PUNG-kin for the word pumpkin is sanctioned by practically all the newer dictionaries. It certainly prevails in Standard American usage.

Hollywood: From a local news item: "Davenport said he was loathe to bring up the idea." Set the boys straight, will you?—J. A. M.

Answer: It is a common error to confuse loathe with loath. The verb loathe means "to feel hatred, aversion, disgust." It rhymes with "clothe." The adjective loath means "reluctant, unwilling, hesitant." It rhymes with "both." The writer should have written: "Davenport said he was loath. . ."

Galveston: What is the meaning of the word "pizzeria?"—B. S.

Answer: It's a cafe that specializes in serving the pizza (PEET-sah), a pielike dish, prepared with tomatoes and cheese, in a crisp bottom crust. The word pizzeria is pronounced: PEET-seh-REE'ah. Both pizza and pizzeria are from the Italian.

Forrestal Gives His Side Of Case

(EDITOR'S NOTE—One of the key officials in President Truman's cabinet and certainly one of the most discussed figures, Secretary of Defense Forrestal recently has been the target of much criticism. In an exclusive interview granted to Marquis Childs, veteran Washington correspondent, Secretary Forrestal breaks his silence and reveals for the first time his position on several controversial issues. This is the first of two articles.)

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—More than any other figure in the Truman administration Secretary of Defense James Forrestal has been the target of criticism and attack since the November election. Punch after punch has been aimed at the man who has the tough, taut look of a veteran prize fighter.

In most of these attacks he is represented as the spokesman of big business—until his resignation in 1940 he was president of the powerful financial firm of Dillon, Reed & Co.—seeking to restore private ownership and the old cartel system in Germany's Ruhr. He is also accused of being imperialistic and anti-Zionist because of his public insistence that oil from the Middle East is essential to American security and the success of the Marshall Plan.

From this the attack has been carried one step further to link him with Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Under Secretary Robert A. Lovett, both to retire, as sponsors of an anti-Russian foreign policy. He has been called a warmonger and his resignation has been predicted and freely anticipated by his attackers.

LIKELY TO STAY

During this period Secretary Forrestal has said nothing Because it seemed important to me to try to get some idea of his views, I submitted questions to him related to the attacks made on him. Now that it is clear that he will remain in the cabinet indefinitely, which means at least a year, his answers have an even greater interest. The questions and the answers by Secretary Forrestal follow:

Question: Do you have any interest in Dillon, Read & Co., that has continued down to the present? If so, what is the nature of that interest? If you were to retire, would you expect to go back to Dillon, Read?

Answer: I do not have, and have not had since 1940, any interest in Dillon, Read & Co. I have made no plans for my activity when I retire from government service.

Question: In your opinion would Dillon, Read benefit if industry in the Ruhr were restored to private owners from the past?

Answer: I have no knowledge of the activities or interests of that firm at the present time, but I see no likelihood of any American investment participation in the industry of the Ruhr.

Question: Are you in favor of restoring industry in the Ruhr to the German corporations that held ownership prior to 1940?

Answer: This question has not come before me and I have no opinion.

Question: In your opinion is it possible to restore capitalism of the American free enterprise type in Western Europe and specifically in Western Germany?

Answer: I find it impossible to predict the form of business enterprise which will prevail in Western Europe and in Western Germany.

Question: Do you believe that war with Communism, as represented in the Soviet Union and the satellite countries, is almost certain to come within say, a decade?

Answer: No one in a free democracy ever can accept war as inevitable. Any concept of war initiated by the United States is unthinkable.

Question: What, in your opinion, are the prospects for peace in the next two or three years?

Answer: If we can maintain a reasonable degree of military strength and conduct ourselves with calmness and reason, I think peace can be maintained.

Question: What is your role in helping to shape American foreign policy?

Answer: American foreign policy is shaped by the president. The department of state acts as his agent in the expression of that policy. The national military establishment takes part only to the extent of its statutory responsibilities as a participant in the national security council, which is charged with the duty of advising the president with respect to the integration of domestic, foreign and military policies so as to enable the military services and the other departments and agencies of government to co-operate more effectively in matters involving national security.

Question: What is your explanation for the attacks directed against you in recent weeks?

Answer: I do not have reliable information which would enable me to answer this question.

Other men want Secretary Forrestal's job. That may be a source of the attacks. But even if the rivals now subside, he will remain, as will be shown in a following column, a controversial figure.

The Hand of Friendship

Good Evening
By Clint Dunathan

THE WEATHER—The weather is always a good topic of conversation, and it is particularly so this winter.

Dunathan

Cliff Frasher stopped at the office early yesterday morning with some sports news and in passing commented that it was a little chilly out. Hastily, he added, "Not that it's bad weather, you know. When you can have sunshine, no snow, and good ice skating, I'm not complaining."

That's the attitude of most Northern Michigan residents this winter. Nice weather we're having, they say—and just look what's happening out west. It always makes people more satisfied with the weather they have if the people in another part of the country are enduring worse weather.

* * *

FOR HIS BENEFIT—Neighbors of the Robert Havens of 1128 Eighth avenue south may have wondered what the Haven family was up to recently. They saw the Havens bring out lawn chairs and arrange them in the yard, take off their outer wraps and sit down in attitudes indicating they were seeking relief from January heat, while having their pictures taken.

The episode was staged for the benefit of a California uncle, who, for several years, has bragged about the weather in the sunshine state. To clinch their pictorial argument that Escanaba has some good weather of its own, the Havens placed a calendar in the background showing the date the lawn-chair picture was made—and prominently displayed a newspaper with the headline "Blizzard Sweeps California."

* * *

UNCOMPLAINING—Northern Michigan residents have been trained in adversity and they seldom complain about the weather. If the snow is deep they ski on it, play in it and shovel it around. Seldom does an Upper Peninsula blizzard make the headlines. Michigan's winters and snow are considered synonymous.

This winter has been "unusual" so far as the Upper Peninsula is concerned, and particularly that area along the Lake Michigan shore. The temperature has been uniformally but not extremely cold, and there has been a virtual absence of snow.

That such conditions cannot last the people well know, but they are grateful for the delayed winter, knowing that if January is comparatively mild the winter will not seem so long. There are February snows in the offing, however, and the arrival of spring is never anticipated until May.

* * *

JANUARY FIRE— Wintertime is usually considered safe for brush burning but because of the little snowfall there is danger of grass fires—or was, we might add, because conditions may change before this gets into print. That's another thing about the weather. As soon as you describe the existing condition, it changes.

What we set out to tell you is that the grass is so dry a Delta county resident was recently hailed into court for allowing his brush-burning fire to get out of control and spread into his neighbor's property. It was ex-

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Scheriff are the parents of a son born Jan. 13 in St. Francis hospital.

Munising—Mrs. Mildred Keeton, nationally known photographer, is leaving tonight for New York to appear on a radio program next week.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pease are leaving today for Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., where they will make their home.

Manistique— Mrs. John Leach has returned from Ann Arbor where she received treatment for the past three months in University Hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba— Atty. Warren C. Horton, a former Escanaban who since he graduated from the University of Michigan law school, has been practicing in South Haven, Mich., has opened offices at 703 Ludington street.

Escanaba—Albert H. Cyr was appointed secretary of the Escanaba Kiwanis club at a meeting held yesterday. He succeeds Lloyd Walker.

Manistique—N. S. Johnson has left for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will spend a month.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson are in Battle Creek, Mich., where Mr. Olson submitted recently to a double goitre operation. He is reported in good condition.

He (Stalin) hopes to bankrupt us; to make us spend so much money on defense that we will destroy our economy and eventually our form of government. Any inefficiency or waste plays into his hands.—Lt.-Gen. James H. Doolittle, U. S. Air Force Reserve.

tinguished with the assistance of the conservation department. Forest fires in January? That is unusual.

* * *

SAVED FROM FLOE —A couple days before the conservation officers put out the grass fire another officer, L. C. Brown of Ford River, saved a young buck deer from a watery grave off Brewery Point in south Escanaba. The deer was floating on an ice floe along the bay shore. Officer Brown borrowed a rowboat from the Coast Guard in Escanaba, took it to Brewery Point and went out and rescued the buck.

The buck offered some resistance and then went along peacefully. On land it was loaded into Brown's car and was taken for a ride to the woods where it was released. By this time it had apparently become attached to the officer, for he had some difficulty in making it leave the car and retreat to the safety of the woods.

* * *

THE DRY YEARS— Lake Michigan water levels are now low and will probably decline more because of the slight precipitation this winter. The water is still high compared with the year 1818, according to "Early Delta County Days", reminiscences of the late James Richard Champ as compiled by Mrs. George Jensen of Escanaba.

"In the year 1818 the season was so dry that squaws planted and harvested corn between Big and Little Summer Islands. It is said that in that year such a drought occurred that Niagara Falls was about reduced to a dribble."

Today the shallows between Little and Big Summer Islands are well covered with water, the Indian squaws and their gardens are no more. But people still consider the weather as noteworthy.

Roving Reporter
By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—Is a housewife more sentimental than showgirl? Is a blonde warmer than a brunette or redhead? What does a lady bear do in a bar? Yes, a real lady bear.

These pressing problems of romance and animal behavior were settled in a single action-filled afternoon on the Pseudo-scientific front.

(Gad, and to think, when I was in college, my journalism instructor wasted time with such ethical queries as, "If you owned a small weekly newspaper and your leading advertiser got arrested for stomping a young orphan to death, would you print the story—or ask him for an ad?")

But to get back to the thermal nature of women and the barroom habits of she bears:

Six beautiful girls—a housewife, a business secretary, a college freshman and three broadway showgirls—were the subjects of the first test.

J. Harry Lange, 56-year-old salesman for the Hallmark greeting card company, read each a sentimental, novelty, and humorous Valentine card.

Their reactions were recorded on a "sentimenter," which is the nickname for "a continous-balance electronic potentiometer." The machine scientifically records temperature changes of one-tenth of a degree in one-five hundredth of a second.

Well, guess what? The housewife registered "hot" on the sentimental greeting but "cold" for the novelty and humorous approaches. But that's no news. Any husband knows a wife can't see anything funny about love.

The secretary, on the other hand, registered no change at all. This may have been because she had been taught never to mix business and pleasure. Or it might be explained by the fact that Lange, after all, was to her only another bald-headed married stranger.

The reaction of the blonde showgirl to a lovey-dovey Valentine was only "lukewarm." The brunette, Norma Thornton, of Iowa City, Ia., registered "Warm-hot." The red-haired lass, Abbe Marshall, was clocked at "semi-boiling."

But the blonde—Judy Sinclair of Philadelphia—remarked:

"If they'll just give with a fur coat instead of a Valentine, I'll burn up the darn machine."

Then Lange himself climbed on the seat. As one showgirl read him a Valentine, the other two suddenly threw their arms around him and kissed him. He zoomed the machine's pointer up to "boiling." And who would that surprise? Everybody knows about bald-headed men.

Oh, yes, the bear.

Well, on the way back to the office I saw a crowd outside a bar. I went in and there was a trained Russian bear, standing behind the bar and wearing a white apron.

The bear was Russian. She was named Laura and weighed 375 pounds. She was drinking a mug of beer from Rita Colton, a television actress. One of the regular patrons was grumbling about the whole business.

"Give the bear a check," he grumbled. "Nobody lets me lap up beer free."

Why not invite Joe Stalin over and strap both him and Laura into the "sentimeter" together and have them read Valentine cards to each other? Nobody really knows how sentimental a she-bear is. Or Stalin, the Russian he-bear either.

That would be real news

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — The new House of Representatives has now been shaken down, had a chance to settle in new offices, and has taken a look at each other. Also out siders have had a chance to look at them. The results have not been disapointing.

Pearson

In brief, the new Congress looks good. It has more war veterans, more youngsters who take their work seriously, more promising raw material than any since before Pearl Harbor. Many never dreamed they would be elected. Many are nervous, shy, and worried about which fork to pick up in Washington. But the main thing is that they know what happened to the 80th Congress, and, if they can help it, they aren't going to let history repeat.

Obviously, most of the new congressmen are Democrats. But the new Republicans seem to have a lot on the ball, too. Anyway, here is a cross-section of the 81st freshmen, the men who hold the balance of power on Capitol Hill and who will shape your lives for the next few years:

Newsmen To Schoolteachers: Harry Davenport, Pennsylvania Democrat—publisher of weekly newspaper; ran against G. O. P. John McDowell of the un-American affairs committee, never expecting to win. Now that he's in Congress—much to his surprise—he'll push hard for the liberal program he advocated. . . Chuck Gross, Iowa Republican—popular Midwest radio commentator of Waterloo; defeated reactionary John Gwynne in the Republican primaries by going to the voters over the heads of the political machines. . . Jerry Ford, Michigan Republican—healthy replacement for Bartel Jonkman, who was one of the most backword of the 80th Congress. Just married, with a new home and a new job, Ford will be a mighty busy congressman. . . Thurman Crook, Democrat, of South Bend, Ind.—known as the only "Legalized Crook" in Congress, he comes to Washington after 35 years as a high-school teacher. Will work for better educational benefits.

New Southern Solons: Thurmond Chatham, North Carolina—wealthy manufacturer of blankets, tweeds and textiles (Chatham Mills) with outstanding war record in submarine service. Open-minded on major issues. . . Charles Bennett, Jacksonville, Florida—a 38-year-old attorney who's proud the real estate lobby fought him. Led troops behind Jap lines during the Philippine invasion—until stricken with polio. Still fighting. . . Syd Herlong, Florida—great friend of the orange. Will steer middle-of-road course while squeezing last drop of political juice from his district's citrus crops. . . Carl Elliott, Jasper, Alabama—successfully bucked local political machine with 129 speeches in 35 days—all pointing up need for improved rural housing and higher educational standards. . . Hugo Sims, South Carolina—battled against real estate lobby, nad will keep on battling. Among the top nominees for "Young Men of the Nation" selected by Junior Chamber of Commerce. . . John Golden, Kentucky—one of the few new Republicans elected in the south. Careful, conscientious.

The Industrial East: Foster Furcolo Massachusetts Democrat—came up the hard way, washing dishes and waiting on table at Yale. Got a law degree, saw naval action in the Pacific, elected in a G. O. P. district by fighting high prices and bad housing. . . Harry O'Neill, Pennsylvania Democrat—son of a Scranton coal miner. Harry had 14 brothers and sisters, began life as a barber, switched to insurance, is a strong union man, will go down the line for the Fair Deal. . . Abraham Rubicoff, Connecticut Democrat—gave up lucrative law practice to run for Congress. Handsome, intelligent, big vote-getter, will follow liberal line—John McGuire, Connecticut Democrat—friendly, small-town insurance agent who's been undefeated in local and state elections. In his spare time, he'll boost Connecticut's new governor, Chester Bowles, for the White House. . . Peter Rodino, Newark, N. J., Democrat—fills the seat of Fred Hartley of Taft-Hartley act fame, and has political views exactly the opposite. . . Hugh Addonizio, Newark, N. J., Democrat—may have the makings of a new Fiorello La Guardia.

Rocky Mountain States: Wayne Aspinall, Colorado Democrat — furious campaign through one of nation's largest congressional districts. Crossed 16 mountain passes with elevations over 10,000 feet searching votes. Dyed-in-the-wool New Dealer, he'll see that the west is heard in Congress—if he has to do all the talking himself. . . John Marsalis, Pueblo, Colo., Democrat—batchelor at 44, a staff sergeant in the war, he learned the G. I. side of the Army. Interested chiefly in reclamation and labor; will vote for straight repeal of Taft-Hartley. . . Reva Beck Bosone, Utah Democrat—capable, charming; keen mind, was a good judge in Utah and should make a good congressman. . . Walter Baring, Reno, Nev., Democrat—won Nevada's solitary congressional seat by covering 30,000 miles of mountains and sagebrush in eight weeks. A mild-mannered, easygoing young westerner, he'll support the Truman fair deal and work for development of his state's vast mineral wealth.

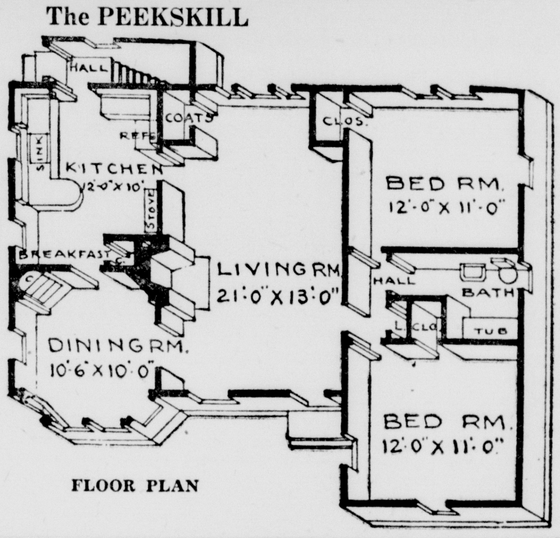

Southwest Congressmen: Harold Patton, Arizona Democrat—41-year-old life insurance executive. Son of railroad engineer, he got help from both labor and business. Favors better treatment for stricken Navajo Indians. . . John Miles or New Mexico—former Democratic governor of his state and an old hand at government. Quiet, mild-mannered, able. Should be good middle-of-road congressman. . . Dixie Gilmer, Oklahoma Democrat—came to Congress as a page boy at the age of 12. Today he's back after defeating G. O. P. conservative George Schwabe of Tulsa. Can deliver fiery speeches. . . George Wilson of Enid, Oklahoma—former FBI agent, idealistic and deeply religious. Real possibilities. Elected to the seat of Ross Rizley.

FOR BETTER HOMES — Build - Repair - Remodel — FOR BETTER LIVING

This House Will Appeal To A Small Family

The PEEKSKILL

FLOOR PLAN

Because of its appeal to the small family desiring an all-on-one-floor dwelling, its simplicity of design and its economy in construction a house such as "The Peekskill," the new Home-of-the-Week plan from the Home of the Week Plan Service, knows no geographical bounds. Dwellings of this type can be found in all parts of this country.

This 5-room home measures 37x29 feet in outside dimensions. Thus it could be built on a 50-foot lot, though extra width is preferrable. The cubic content of the house, with a full basement, is 16,800 feet—which could be reduced even lower if the owners are satisfied to have a cellar only under the living room, dining room and kitchen. In this case the area under the bedrooms would be only partially excavated. This decision should be made only after consultation with the contractor. Sometimes it proves more economical, in the long run to have a full cellar.

In a house of this type sidewalls and ceilings should be fully insulated and ventilating louvres should be installed in the gable ends.

Has A Homey Charm

There's a homey charm to The Peekskill with its white picket fence, old-fashioned lantern post and the bay window break of the front wall. Color combinations for painting such a house are unlimited. In the example pictured, white walls, a green fire-resistant shingle roof and green shutters were the owner's choice. A cottage such as this should hug the ground, and would look odd set on a high foundation. Foundation planting should further tie the house to the ground.

The two bedrooms and bath in this house are connected with the living room by a short, straight hall. Each bedroom has a storage closet and windows on two exposures. There is a linen closet in the hall.

In the other rooms the architect has introduced several novel ideas. In the living room, a wall projection made necessary by the rear bedroom's closet is matched by utilizing a corner space on the opposite side of the room for a coat closet. This gives a pleasing shape to the 21x13-foot room. The fireplace, centered in one long, inside wall, could have built-in bookshelves at either side. A woodbox in the lower section of the wider bookcase (which could be filled from the basement through a trap door) is an idea some builders might want to adopt.

Octagonal Dining Room

The dining room is octagonal. The bay window creates three sides of the octagon, walls with doors to living room and kitchen, two others, and a wall space with a window looking out to the side of the house makes a sixth side, a wall jog (which backs the living room fireplace and into which a niche or shelf could be built in the dining room) forms the seventh side of the octagon, matched by a built-in corner china cabinet which makes the eighth side of this attractive room.

The kitchen plan is also unusual with the working counter holding the sink being extended and rounded off to set apart a portion of the room as a breakfast nook. This counter extension could be elaborated into a breakfast bar up to which high stools could be drawn eliminating the need for a breakfast set.

Refrigerator and stove are conviently placed on the opposite side of the room from the working counter with wall cabinets adjacent to both. There is also a broom closet in the kitchen, just back of the swinging door from the dining room.

The architect suggests equipping the fireplace in the living room with a heat circulating device, which would warm living room, dining room and kitchen quite comfortably except in the extremely cold weather.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Daily Press, and enclose a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Owner Covered By 80% Clause

How much fire insurance should be carried has always puzzled the home owner. The problem is more acute now than ever before. Most homes are under-insured today because replacement costs have risen an estimated 50 per cent since 1939. In some cases, homes are insured for only the amount of the mortgage. This means the owner has no protection in case of loss.

To provide complete protection, fire underwriters have established what they call the "co-insurance clause." Under it, the owner agrees to maintain insurance equal to at least 80 per cent of the value and the company agrees to pay in full on any loss.

How Plan Works

If less than 80 per cent is carried, the owner must bear a proportionate share of the loss. For example, if the property is valued at $10,000, the insured carries at least $8,000 and a $4000 loss occurs, the company will pay the entire $4000. But if only $6000 insurance is carried on a $10,000 valuation, the company will pay only six-eighths, or $3000 on a $4000 loss.

Therefore, the wise property owner will have a careful appraisal made and make sure that his fire policies cover at least 80 per cent of this value on both house and contents.

OIL FOR DOOR LOCK

Steal a feather from your feather duster, dip it in machine oil and then clean the keyhole of the door where the lock is a bit stubborn. The oily feather will not only distribute oil but also gather any dirt that may be causing the trouble.

Charm Is Captured With Molded Brick

The charm and beauty of old Williamsburg can be captured for many Colonial homes through the use of molded-brick doorways, which lend Colonial Virginia authenticity to homes of early American design.

The heretofore exorbitant cost entailed in reproducting these beautiful landmarks of a bygone day for a special single order has been obviated by their construction now in completely assembled custom-built units.

Different blends of clays permit the production of practically all intermediate tones between white and black, making possible the color matching or duplication of other Colonial brick masonry.

LAWN FAUCETS

Several sill or lawn faucets installed at various points around the house will eliminate the bother of dragging a long hose in order to water the lawn and garden properly.

SCREEN FOR FRENCH DOORS

Screen doors of tubular metal framework are especially adaptable to French doors, because the frame is narrow and inconspicuous and permits a larger light area.

The metal construction assures strength and rigidity for the door yet carries a minimum of bulk and weight. The frames can be fitted with any standard screening.

Press Cameramen Depict B. I. E. Day Activities In Delta County

POWER PLANT OPERATIONS—More than three hundred teachers of Delta county visited the various industrial and business establishments in Escanaba, Gladstone, Wells, Groos and Bark River on Business-Industry-Education day last Wednesday. E. F. Zuehlke, superintendent of the Upper Michigan Power and Light company is shown above describing power plant operations to Irma Bangs and Violet Goodman.

BANQUET SPEAKER — Kenneth W. Haagensen of Milwaukee, public relations director of the Allis Chalmers company, delivered the principal address at the B. I. E. day banquet at the St. Joseph dining hall.

STUDY DIMENSION BUSINESS — Louis Dufour of the Shepeck Dimension company (center) gives some facts and figures on the production of dimension lumber. Left to right are: Mrs. Oscar Kell, Betty Lindstrom, Clara Somers, Clara Aronson, Louis Dufour, Clarence Zerbel, Joseph M. Petryk, Hagle Quarnstrom and Mary A. Newton.

BUNS IN THE MAKING—Visiting the Gladstone Baking Co., during B-I-E Day Wednesday, teachers saw buns made in the modern manner. Dough after mixing is placed in the hopper of the machine which then automatically cuts dough into pieces weighing identically the same and molds them into a shape ready for placing in the pans. They come rolling out in a steady stream onto a stainless steel turntable and picked up, placed in pans and headed ovenward. Ed Clish is picking them up and placing in pans. Elmer Peterson, Gladstone; Ina Short, Rapid River, and Beatrice Geason and Phyllis Landberg of Escanaba watch as operations are explained by Norman Knutsen at right.

ROLLING CULVERT—Teachers watched with interest as Martin Karciany rolled a culvert at the plant of the Bark River Culvert & Equipment company. Teachers assigned to Bark River on B. I. E. day visited both the culvert plant and bank. They were Harry Corbisier, Mrs. Angeline Godin, Celeste Norden, Eva Boudreau, Claudia Hoffmann, Mrs. Laura Riley, Mrs. Catherine Locke, and Mrs. Alvira Miller.

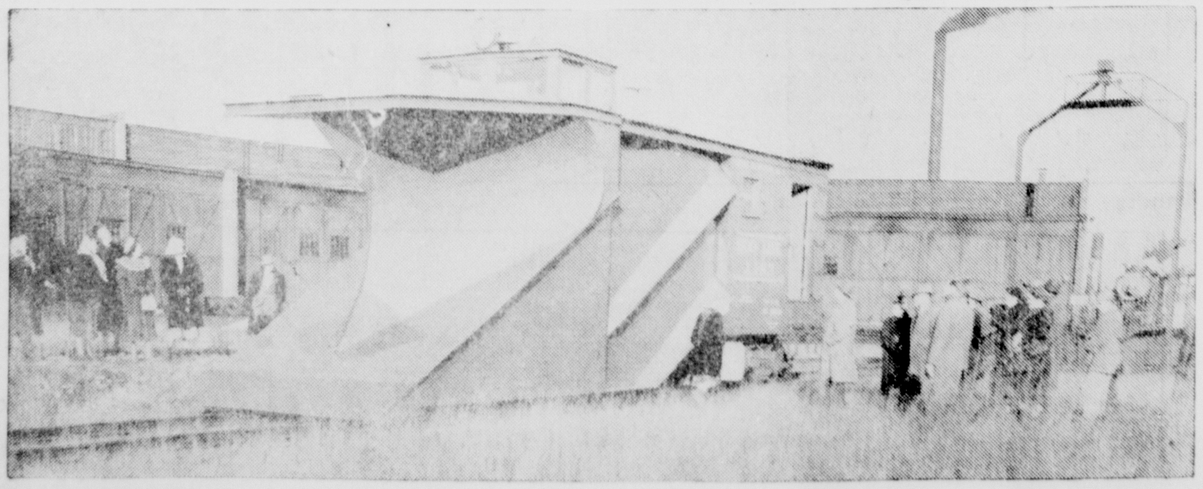

RETAILERS PARTICIPATE — Delta county retailers, including Lauerman's, The Fair Store, Delta Hardware, Montgomery Ward, and the J. C. Penney stores of Escanaba and Gladstone, participated in the B. I. E. day program. James H. Jackson, Escanaba merchant, (center) and the teachers assigned to his store were snapped at the noon luncheon. Teachers in the group were Julia Parsons, Jessie Wick, Mrs. Ethel Larson, Miss Trautner, Mrs. Zola Beauchamp, Mildred Goodenough, and Mrs. Dudy.

KNIVES IN MAKING—Visiting the Marble Arms and Manufacturing company on BIE Day Wednesday teachers saw the making of knives and other products that are world known and have even been carried on trips to the Arctic and Antarctic. Here a group watches Arthur Anderson buffing handles on nearly completed knives. In the group are James Rouman, Escanaba; Donald McKie, Escanaba; Frank Lefins, Bark River-Harris; Carroll Norden, Rapid River; Mabel Moras and Mrs. Carl R. Wickman, Escanaba, and Elizabeth Henne, Gladstone.

MOTOR TESTING — Bruce Brackett (left) explains the operations of motor testing equipment to teachers assigned to the Brackett Chevrolet garage on B.I.E. day. Teachers in the group are Albin Starr, Bradford Loveland and Stanley McInnes.

SOO LINE MONEY-MAKER—Teachers while on tour of the E & L S and Soo Line railroads during Business-Industry-Education Day on Wednesday inspect idle Soo Line show plow in local yard. There is nothing glamorous about a plow that isn't hurling tons of snow from the right-of-way but railroad officials explained they are happy about things as they are for there are two pieces of equipment they have that make money when not in use and they are snowplows and wreckers. The Soo Line plow is a Russell, the only one of its type in this area. It has wings (retracted in picture) and communication system to locomotive which furnishes tractive power and steam for plow operation.

"Male Peacock" Colors For The Man-In-Your-Life

Cincinnati, Jan. 15 (AP) — The "bold look" in men's clothes is passe. Now it's the "dominant look" and you men will have to dress in colors of the "male peacock" to be in style.

The National Association of Men's Apparel Clubs came to those conclusions yesterday in deciding what the Beau Brummels should wear this Spring.

The association also supported a program introduced by the Illinois club. It goes something like this:

"Airline grey, to be introduced next month.

"Valentine red" for Feb. 14 .

"Irish green" — you'll never guess—for March 17.

A national color scheme for each season.

And further, the association will attempt, through education, to have women do a better job of buying their men's clothes.

Estimating that women buy between 80 and 85 per cent of the clothing men wear, the association plans to conduct campaigns in women's magazines and through other outlets to let the fairer sex know all about masculine fashions.

Negro Contralto's Voice Unaffected By Throat Surgery

Raleigh, N. C., (AP)—Marion Anderson's voice appears to have been unaffected by a delicate throat operation.

The noted Negro contralto, operated on last June, sang before a Raleigh audience and drew warm praise from Miss Geraldine Cate, voice and choral director of St. Mary's junior college here.

"Her magnificent voice, a little cold in her first group of 18th Century English arias, warmed to a climax in the taxing aria pace, Mio Dio from 'La Forza Del Destino' by Verdi," Miss Cate commented.

Miss Anderson was scheduled to leave Jan. 14 for Montgomery, Ala., where she is to appear in a concert Monday. She will sail in April for a two-month European tour.

Church Of Sweden Still Potent Spiritual Force

By HERMAN G. NELSON

From what I have seen in the three visits I have made to Sweden, I must take a different view from many Americans who return home to criticize the church of Sweden and who say that the spiritual life of Sweden is at a low ebb. I have only high praise for the church leaders of Sweden whom I have met and heard about and for the great work that the church of Sweden is doing to combat materialism, indifference and actual antagonism. The influence of the church in Sweden on the life of the people is tremendous and it appears to me that it is possibly greater today than in decades past. The church of Sweden is Lutheran. While Swedish people do not show their religion as outwardly as some of us in America, they have a deep spiritual quality and they know their Bible and the Word of God. Christianity is taught in every school of Sweden and each day in school is opened with prayer and worship.

The church of Sweden is divided into 13 "stift" or diocese, for a total of 2,552 congregations. There are 1,369 pastors, who administer to the spiritual life of the 6,763,685 people counted as Sweden's present-day population. These pastors also serve as administrators or registrars of the birth, marriage and death records of the nation.

Congregations Are Growing

Some of the parishes or congregations in cities of Sweden, especially in Stockholm, have grown in population so greatly and so quickly that the church has been unable to keep pace. Take, for instance, the Brankyrka parish in Stockholm, where we have our apartment. This parish has 109,000 people and it has grown and is still growing at the rate of 10,000 people a year. That is a good-sized city two-thirds the population of Escanaba being added to a single parish every year.

The parish has only seven pastors assigned to it by the church and it has two others paid from private sources. To cope with the problem, chapels have been created in a number of apartment buildings in the various new sections. The church rents the entire downstairs of a new apartment building and converts it into an attractive chapel and adjacent Sunday school rooms. Here Sunday school and services are held every Sunday and on church holidays. I attended services in such a chapel at Arsta and two pastors were present. A fine service was conducted and both pastors were cordial and pleasant. My wife had been singing in the choir during the advent season. The organist was highly trained.

This is home missionary work and it is effective, because it brings the church of Sweden, which some say is aloof, directly into the home neighborhood. Once a nucleus is established, plans are made to establish and build a small church, which remains under the original parish, unless a division takes place officially.

Visitors in Sweden during the summer months often report that churches are empty. This is understandable because in Sweden the larger part of the population leaves the city during summer months. But the church carries on its work by sending pastors to conduct services for the 100,000 or more people who spend their summers on the islands of the Stockholm archipelago. In winter, pastors are assigned to conduct services at the various sports centers.

95% Are Baptized

Ninety-five per cent of the children of Sweden are baptized and 85 per cent are confirmed. Kyrkoherde Nils Bolander of Engelbrekt church in Stockholm, one of the most popular pastors in the capital, sets aside one evening each week, regardless of other activities, to visit the homes of those in his confirmation class.

I am personally convinced that the church of Sweden is making serious efforts to bring the church to the people. It is true that some of the sermons are cold and matter of fact, but most of the pastors have a sermon message that is evangelical and gripping, if the worshiper is a hearer.

The church of Sweden is governed by the parliament or "riksdag." The "kyrkomote," or annual church assembly, has the right to propose legislation but it is parliament which makes the laws and appropriations for the church. The church assembly, however, can veto, if it wishes, any act of parliament. It can be said that the church of Sweden is controlled by parliament on the principle that the government of Sweden is Christian and will pass laws designed to be of the utmost benefit to the church. While members of the Swedish government at times may be indifferent to the church, it cannot be said that they have been or are antagonistic. The nation's leaders may not always demonstrate their Christian faith officially and openly but they are not against the church and they work closely with it.

Taxes Support Church

The church of Sweden is supported by general taxation but it can also be said that taxes are paid to pay the salaries of the pastors as administrators of legal registration. Some say that pastors should not be required to serve as registrars of births, marriages, death and the like but it seems that it is only in Stockholm where some pastors feel strongly against the policy. Most of the other pastors feel that it gives them a contact with all the people that the church might not otherwise have.

Pastors of Sweden have a right and frequently do speak against the policies of their government, even though they get their salaries from the government. It is said that the church of Sweden cannot be explained to or understood by an outsider, because he would be led to believe that a pastor cannot be paid by the state and still be fearless in voicing his objection against the policies of the state. Yet, just that thing happens frequently and sometimes the entire church opposes the policy of the government.

Much of the work of the church of Sweden is carried on in a voluntary way with voluntary gifts and funds. Such work is done under a "stiftsrad" which is the governing group of all voluntary organizations of the church, such as the woman's societies, the brotherhood, the young peoples' societies and the like, or under 'diakonisstyrelsen," which is made up of representatives of pastors, laymen and heads of organized activities of the church, including Sunday school, scouting, folk education, social welfare and the like.

The men's groups are usually divided, where they are large in the first place, into smaller units of 10 or 12 members and these meet in homes for Bible study. As in our own churches, the leaders of brotherhood work in Sweden feel that the average age of members is too high and that enough young men do not participate. But the trend is toward giving leadership to younger men. The president of the Arsta brotherhood corps is only 24 years old. There are 35 brotherhoods in Stockholm. The city parish has 120 women's sewing circles, which also meet in homes. They have 7,000 active members and their income from the sale of items they sew is approximately 400,000 kronor annually. This is well over $100,000. The young peoples society of Stockholm has about 3,500 active members. Scout work is carried out by the church among both boys and girls.

Purpose of the "diakonisstyrelse" is to serve the whole church. it is felt that the Swedish church serves God's word in the dioceses and parishes but that the modern times call upon the church to do infinitely more than just preach the word of God. This is where the diakonisstyrelse can serve not only the church but the whole community.

Religious Radio Programs

Every morning over Sweden's radio is a program known as "morgon andakts stund." It is a spiritual meditation and thousands listen in daily to these programs on the Swedish radio. The full service is broadcast every Sunday morning and enables thousands of people to hear the complete worship service in their homes.

You may be interested in how a pastor is chosen in a church in Sweden. Every pastor of a diocese has a right to apply when a vacancy occurs. The diocesan board of seven members picks the three applicants considered the most noteworthy and qualified, based on three specifications: first, length of service, or seniority; second, the extent of his education and degrees; and third, special ability or qualifications for the post.

Each candidate is rated in points and the three highest must then give trial sermons on successive Sundays. On the fourth Sunday, the parishioners meet to vote on the candidates. A free discussion is permitted. If 300 members, one-third of the parish, feel that they want to hear a fourth candidate, they can call such person to give a sermon. If the choice is limited to three candidates, the pastor who gets the largest number of votes is automatically elected. If a fourth candidate enters the field, the government has the right to make the selection from among the four.

A pastor must be ordained into a diocese or he must petition the government to change him from one diocese to another. This applies except in Stockholm diocese, where a congregation may select its pastor from any part of Sweden. This may seem unfair, but the theory is that every pastor in Sweden should have the opportunity to be called to the nation's capital. But a pastor in Stockholm cannot look for a post in another diocese and this works a hardship on some of the Stockholm pastors. Younger pastors in Stockholm find it almost impossible to get better positions because they have to compete with pastors from everywhere.

CONCERT JAN 28 — James Pease, bass-baritone, will present the second program of the Munising Community Concert series Friday night, Jan. 28, in Mather high school auditorium.

Munising Masons Will Hold Party

Munising—The fiftieth anniversary of Grand Island Lodge, No. 422, F. and A. M., will be observed with a party Tuesday evening, Jan. 25, in the Masonic hall.

Arrangements include a dinner at 6:30, followed by an historical program at 7:30.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Peter Seaberg will entertain the Women's Society of Christian Service at her home, Cherry street, at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Sunday school teachers of the Eden Lutheran church will have a meeting at 8 Monday night at the home of Leonard and Elmer Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bakkum of Munising left Friday for Chicago where they will spend four days on business.

Mrs. Bernard Zack returned to her home in Appleton, Wis., Friday after spending a week here with Mrs. Mose Leveque.

Poor Ice Hinders Nahma Fishermen

Nahma, Mich.,—Due to the rain and soft weather of last week the ice in Big Bay de Noc is not safe in many spots. The sub-freezing temperatures of the past few days have helped the situation some, but fishermen around the bay are using precautions while at work.

The condition of the ice was at its worst last Sunday when a snowmobile belonging to James Krutina and a bug owned by Amos Ritter went through and are still on the bottom. Both parties will have to wait until the weather is much colder before there will be enough ice to make it safe to try to raise the machines.

Riding with James Krutina at the time the ice broke were his stepdaughters Frances and Beverly Berg, high school students. Krutina jumped when the ice broke and the two girls went down and managed to get out of the snowmobile and swim to the top.

It was lucky for them that they came up in the open water and all three were rushed home in a truck owned by John Schwartz, who came fast when he saw what had happened. The Ritter bug went down in shallower water and Kenneth Ritter got wet while the others escaped. Another bug owned by Herman Bramer stayed on the ice until Wednesday morning after one wheel broke through. Several days after Sunday's episode the fishermen were forced to handsleigh to and from their nets. Herman Bramer, veteran fisherman, relates that similar conditions of the ice now happened one year during World War I and at that time the bay was clear of ice on March 2. If such would be the case this year it would make quite a short season for the fishermen.

U. P. ORCHESTRA HERE JAN. 30

Concert Sponsored By Local Music Assn.

On Sunday evening, January 30 the Cloverland Symphony orchestra, under the sponsorship of the Manistique Music association, will present a concert at the high school auditorium.

This forty piece symphony orchestra is an association of gifted musicians from all parts of Upper Michigan. Carl Olson, the Rev. Paul Sobel and Norman Martin of Manistique are among these artists. The organization is under the direction of Albert Shomento, of Escanaba.

This orchestra has already enjoyed a very successful season and has been booked for concerts in a number of cities in Upper Michigan. It is also due to play at a concert in Green Bay some time this spring.

Due to appear with the orchestra here will be the young child pianist, Jack Beyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beyers, of Marquette whose playing has won high praise from music critics.

Leaves To Take Two Weeks Sales Management Course

Walter Linderoth, of the Linderoth Farm Supply, will leave for Chicago Sunday to attend a two-weeks sales and management course conducted by the International Harvester Company for its dealer organization. Class sessions will be held at the Harvester Central Training School from Monday, Jan. 17, through Friday, Jan. 28.

As a member of a class of 50 Harvester dealers from all sections of the United States, Mr. Linderoth will have many opportunities during the two weeks for open forum discussions and an exchange of views on problems pertinent to dealership operations.

The course is designed to give the dealer a broader understanding of the changes taking place today in the farm equipment, motor truck, and refrigeration fields and thus enable him to better serve the needs of his customers and community.

The school is staffed entirely by Harvester personnel working under the guidance of adult education and industrial training authorities from the University of Chicago.

Pipe Purchase Is Okehed By Commish

City Manager H. J. Henrikson has been authorized to purchase pipe fittings needed to connect the new electric water pump at the pumping station at a cost not to exceed $3,500.00.

Installation of the new pump, which will almost double the present pumping capacity of the plant, is expected to be completed by May 1-15.

The city manager also was authorized to buy a carload of six-inch pipe. Part will be used to provide water service to the canning plant which is to be built here, some will be used to provide service to houses in Block 99 sold by lot for residential use recently by the city, the remainder to remain as stock.

SEE MONDAY'S CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Inseparable Trio Now In U.S. Navy

Three Gladstone youths recently enlisted in the United States Navy. All of the trio were accepted when they took their physicals at Minneapolis this week.

The boys are Don Pickard, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Pickard; Richard Moreau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moreau and Fred DeMay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix DeMay.

The unusual angle of the story is that the boys have been almost inseparable since childhood. All attended kindergarten in the Buckeye school, primary grades at All Saints' Parochial school and were graduated from Gladstone high school in the same class.

They were worried that some member of the trio might fail to pass the physical at Minneapolis, but all made the grade and are now at the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes for their basic training.

Local Couple Completes 67 Years Married Life

Manistique numbers among its interesting people an aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Parker, who have been married 67 years.

Interviewed at their home at the Crosby Apartments, they were found to be mentally alert, still enjoying life and eagerly interested in what is going on in this old world in which they have resided together for so long.

Mr. Parker is feeble in health. He had been hale and hearty up to about a year ago, but is now confined to his bed. Mrs. Parker, however, is in splendid health for her years, keeps house and cares for her husband.

Mr. Parker was born in Theresa Jeff county, New York on Oct. 31, 1860 and his wife, nee Miss Agnes L. Leonard was born in the same state, but in St. Lawrence county, on December 7, 1864. They were married in New York on New Years Day, 1882 and resided there until 1891, landing in Manistique on August 17, of that year. Shortly after his arrival in the city, Mr. Parker received employment with the White Marble Lime Company and remained with that organization until the spring of 1907 when he and his family moved onto a farm along Highway U. S. 2 east of the city. Here they remained until their retirement several years ago.

They are the parents of a son, Leonard A. Parker, of Manistique, and a daughter, Mrs. Icle Roberts, of Escanaba. They also gave a home to two children, Gerald Watson, who was twelve days old when he was taken to their home and remained with them until his marriage thirty years later; and Vane Parker who lived with them from infancy until his graduation from high school.

Their recent marriage anniversary was just another day with them, but they are proud of this unique distinction and thankful that they have been privileged for so long to be near their children and with kind and loving friends.

School Students Give Generously To CROP Fund

After seeing the motion picture, "Seeds of Destiny", students of Manistique high school gave over $105.00 through personal contributions and through the various high school organizations. These contributions came voluntarily from students who talked about the program for about two days before acting.

At a general assembly, students contributed $33.66 from their personal allowances and voted to contribute the following amounts from the various high school organizations:

Senior class	$10.00
Junior Class	5.00
Sophomore Class	11.00
Freshman class	5.00
Student's association	5.00
Movie club	2.00
Dramatics club	10.00
G. A. A.	5.00
Band	10.00
Hi-Y Club	6.00

The Manistique Teachers' club also contributed $11.50 besides the personal contributions made at their homes.

E. T. King, chairman of the Schoolcraft County Christian Rural Overseas Program, states, "Preliminary reports from solicitors indicates that people all over the county are responding very well to this worthy program. A good many people are donating 100 pounds of flour or its equivalent in cash. There are some who are giving several hundred pounds. Nearly every family wants to join in giving something. The canvassers report that people are friendly to them at nearly every home. We appreciate the cooperation and hope to soon be ready to announce the total amount that has been donated."

Mr. King continues, "if our canvassers have missed you when you were away from home, please don't wait for them to come back, but drop in at the State Savings Bank and give your contribution to Mr. Shinar or at Nelson's Creamery, and give it to Mr. Tank.

Circuit Court Grind Comes To Close Friday

Routine matters, most of which were taken up in chambers, took up most of Friday's session of the Schoolcraft county circuit court which came to a close that evening.

Most prominent among the matters heard in open court was the case of Liberty Loan vs. John Spielmacher of Cooks. Testimony showed that Spielmacher had purchased a car from the Liberty Loan Company of Escanaba, paying cash for the vehicle and assuming that he had a clear title to it. He learned, however, that the Liberty Loan company of Manistique also held a mortgage on it and for not meeting that loan, the car was taken from him. He brought counter suit to replevin the car. Judge Herbert Runnells, in passing judgment awarded the car to Spielmacher and assessed damages against the loan company of $250, plus attorney fees and court costs. William J. Sheahan plead the case for Spielmacher and E. Martineau of Marinette, Wis., was attorney for the loan company.

One criminal matter was disposed of. Ed Nelson, charged with being an habitual alcoholic and pleading guilty to the charge, was ordered sent to the Marquette penitentiary for a period of from one to three years with the recommendation that he serve one year. This action was taken to give medical attention and help straighten out the man rather than to mete punishment, members of his immediate family having made the complaint.

Albert Kaiser and Lloyd Fragale, charged with defrauding the state by forging fox bounty claims; and Alton J. Markham, who recently pleaded guilty to writing checks without having bank funds to cover them, were ordered remanded to the county jail to await further court action.

Other cases set for trial have been continued to the next term.

NOTICE
To all the kind people that helped in the attempted rescue of Dave Martin of Germfask, we and all members of our family wish to express our sincere appreciation.
We wish it were possible to personally thank you all. Our grief is, of course, beyond expression but we shall always remember with the kindest thoughts our friends, neighbors, the Seney Refuge personnel, the State Police, the Coast Guard and Schoolcraft Sheriff's Dept. for their heroic work, also to the ladies for their hours in serving meals to the men.
Will you all continue to pray for an early rescue.

Soo Game Postponed; Hawks Play Stambaugh Here Tomorrow

Soft Ice Hampers Puck Program; Cold Weather Is Expected For Sunday

By JAMES G. WARD
Sports Editor

Is hockey taking hold in Delta county? Just start a conversation about hockey in any downtown emporium in Escanaba or Gladstone, and you'll get your answer quickly.

Hockey—long recognized as the world's fastest game and the most fascinating sport to watch—is here to stay, and, as is true wherever there are rinks in the United States, interest in the speedy game is increasing rapidly.

Puck fans in Delta county will whet their appetites for spills and thrills with two games this weekend. The game between Soo and Escanaba, scheduled for tonight at the indoor rink, has been postponed because of soft ice.

Stambaugh is slated to play Escanaba here and Soo will be at Gladstone tomorrow afternoon.

The Stambaugh Indians, who won the U. P. championship in 1946-47, signified they would be a factor in the 1948-49 title race by whipping Gladstone, 5-3.

Delta fans are eager to see this fast club from the Lock City. It holds an 8-1 triumph over Stambaugh in its only league game played to date.

Gorenchan, Reynolds Hurt

And tomorrow afternoon, Escanaba will take on Stambaugh on the indoor rink while Soo invades Gladstone on its outdoor rink. Just how these games will juggle the standings remains to be seen, but as it stands now Escanaba and Gladstone are tied for second behind South Marquette. The Hawks are intent on at least holding their own.

The Hawks will be handicapped by the loss of John Gorenchan and Bob Reynolds, both injured in Marquette Tuesday night, but the workout Thursday night indicated the local sextet aims to fight just that much harder to make up for their loss.

Gorenchan suffered a cut above the left eye. He planned to play this weekend, but yesterday his eye had swollen so much that it was closed completely. Reynolds' leg was broken in the sideboard crackup in Marquette, X-ray disclosed. He will be out for the remainder of the season.

Talent Hunt On

Coach Babs Petaja has two lines intact, the Bud-Dud-Babs combination of Hanson, Paquette and Petaja, respectively, and the "kid" line of Bud Provo, John Cousineau and Bud Kenneally, and Lollie Rose, Jim Ward and Clint Marenger are ready to handle defense duties. George Petaja will see plenty of action filling in where needed, and Gene Harris will be in the nets.

"It is probable that additional talent will be available," Larry Pratt, of the local hockey committee, said this morning. "We have a line on other players, and all fans can be assured we'll put our strongest possible lineup up against Stambaugh."

The Escanaba-Stambaugh game here tomorrow will get underway at 2:30. The Soo-Indian game in Gladstone will start at 2:15.

Not Candidate For U-W Job; Wilkinson

Norman, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP) — The folks who want Bud Wilkinson to continue as the University of Oklahoma's football coach had an added bounce in their steps today.

Because the youthful O. U. coach returned from Madison, Wis., last night and promptly announced:

1. He has not been offered the University of Wisconsin's head coaching job.

2. He is not the No. 1 candidate for the Wisconsin post as reported out of Madison.

3. He is not an applicant for the job.

St. Joe Trojans Ready For Braves Tilt Here Tonight

Fattening their season's record to 7-2 with a 66-20 triumph over Rock last week, St. Joseph's Trojans bump up against stiffer opposition at William Bonifas here tonight when they tangle with the Gladstone Braves. The game will start at 8:30, and a preliminary between the reserves is set for 7.

Coach Eldon Keil's Braves have every reason to be right tonight. They led the Trojans until the last few minutes of play only to lose, 34-23, early in the season. Then they embarked on a successful spree until they were downed quite handily, 37-23, by the Eskymos last week.

This idea of being defeated by both Escanaba teams while doing okeh otherwise rankles more than a little bit in the minds of the Braves, and they'll be out to turn the tide against the Trojans tonight.

Coach Tom St. Germain plans no change from the lineup that has done so well to date. Only that loss to the Eskymos at the outset of the season and the 40-36 defeat by St. Ambrose of Ironwood in the finals of the U. P. parochial tourney blot the Trojan record.

Reliable Gerald Harris and Phil Legault will be at forwards, Jack Miron at center and Gerald Gleich and Pete Kutches at guards.

Lions Asked to Help Set Up Gloves Ring

The training ring will be set up this afternoon at the North Escanaba fire station and the help of Lions club members will be required. They are asked to report at the training center at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Training bouts will sparkle the training schedule during the final two weeks before the tournament.

Sports Briefs

(Editor's Note—The following dot-dash items are culled from today's Associated Press dispatches and are presented to you in concise manner for complete coverage and easy reading. Because of the heavy Friday night basketball schedule, space is limited on the sports page today).

Hal Newhouser, Detroit Tiger southpaw, has signed his 1949 contract for a reported $60,000, his earliest signing since he joined the Tigers.... It's do-or-die tonight for Michigan's defending Big Nine basketball champions.... Beaten twice to date, the Wolverines must beat Northwestern tonight to stay in the race.... Meanwhile, Dick Rifenburg has quit the squad and signed a contract to play professional football with the New York Yankees.... There is no connection between the two acts apparently.... Twenty-two-year-old Rifenburg merely said he wasn't getting the kick out of basketball he used to in high school and he preferred to step aside for some "younger fellow."

All the big wheels are trailing in Bing Crosby's $10,000 golf tournament at Pebble Beach.. Bill Nary, of Phoznix Ariz., has the early lead with 32-34—66.. Ben Hogan gave indication he was back on his game by firing a 70.. Joe Brown, Des Moines, and Skip Alexander, Durham, N. C., are second to Nary with 68s.

Undefeated Minnesota faces its biggest basketball test of the season tonight.... against the Boilermakers at Purdue.... Other Big Nine games find Indiana at Wisconsin, Ohio State at Iowa and Northwestern at Michigan.... Creighton is at Illinois in a non-league affair.. The Illini top the Big Nine with three triumphs.

Two-ton Tony Galento may return to Michigan rings as a wrestler.. Suspended since Feb. 3, 1939, because of a sad showing in a four-round knockout over Nate Brown, Galento is back in the good graces of the state boxing commission and may come back as a grunt-and-groan performer.. Jock Hutchinson, former British Open golf champion, can still hit 'em at 64.. He fired a one-under-par 71 to tie for the lead in the Senior PGA tourney at Dundin, Fla.

The Michigan speed skating championship meet trusted to luck and went ahead with its plans for the weekend competition, despite mild weather.... Howard Perron, Carl Lueneberg, Betty Lundeen and Don Olson, of Escanaba, Mich., were among the entries.

Vince Foster, Omaha, Nebr. is the hottest thing to hit Madison Square Garden since Rocky Graziano.. The two-fisted welterweight kayoed Tony Pelone, New York, in the seventh.. But it was the way he did it that caught the fancy of the fight crowd.. He scored four clean knockdowns before the kayo.... Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodger Negro secondbaseman, says he will play baseball wherever the Dodgers want him to play, despite Ku Klux Klan opposition.

Soo Collegiate Stops 'Stique Five, 35 To 30

Manistique, Jan. 15 — The Collegiate Institute of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., a team of tall and lanky individuals won, 35-30, over Manistique high here last night.

Johnnie Hockstad, Manistique's main standby, was not up to his usual good form. Time and again, his attempts to score, just narrowly missed the hoop. Bob Carlson was at best, however, and played a very effective game accounting for 11 of Manistique's 30 points. Dick Burnis also gave a better than average account of himself.

Charley Fonville To Return To Competition In 1950; Packers Get Support

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Jan. 15 (AP) — The "success" of the NCAA sanity code, as re-affirmed at the recent San Francisco meeting, has started a big argument at one southern college we've just heard from.... The school's governing body is about to plot its future course. Our informant explains: "Some want us to line up 100 percent with the NCAA; others want us to set up a 'Wahoo Educational Fund' (like some rival colleges) in hopes of luring good football players here."... The trick, as explained by another sharp observer, seems to be to set up such a fund, administered by regular university authorities and open to all students. You can always drop a word in someone's ear and even a faculty man can get the idea that such funds won't be forthcoming for long if deserving football prospects aren't taken care of.... That's a very practical wind of "sanity" and strictly within the rules.

Go-Getter

The National Baseball Congress recently received an application from Loretto, Kansas (population 30) to conduct one of the 500 NBC-sanctioned district tournaments.... Officials at Wichita figured the village was too small for such an event. A reply was sent to Ben Stremel, a wealthy wheat farmer who made the application, explaining a sanction couldn't be issued because there was no lighted field in such a small town.... Almost by return mail came the word that Stremel was constructing a lighted field—so Loretto will be the smallest town ever to stage such a tourney.

Weak End Notes

Charlie Fonville, Michigan's world-record shotputter, hopes to return to competition in 1950. He dropped out of college for an operation on his back in October but will resume his dental course next fall.... Bantamweight Champion Manuel Ortiz, starting to train for his Feb. 22 bout with Dado Marino in Honolulu, already is down to 123 pounds and says he won't have any trouble making 118.... The Green Bay Packers did a record business in Christmas-gift ticket sales despite their 3-9 record. Must have been a lot of folks buying presents for people they don't like.

Rapid River Topples Hermansville, 31-30

Hermansville, Jan. 15 — Rapid River extended its record to eight victories and one defeat in leading the Central U. P. D-E Basketball league by virtue of its rousing 31-30 triumph over Hermansville, the defending champion, here last night.

Leonard Nelson and Lawrence Malnor were the big wheels in the one-point win, scoring nine points each.

Rapid River held a 15-14 halftime lead and stretched it to 22-17 in the third quarter, just enough to offset Hermansville closing splurge, 13 points to nine for Rapid River in the finale. Pieropon scored 13 points for Hermansville.

Hermansville Bees won the preliminary, 29-24.

Miners Tip Mustang '5' In Overtime

Munising, Jan. 15—The Negaunee Miners kept their record unblemished for the season but not without one whale of a battle with the Munising Mustangs. Negaunee had to stage a furious rally in the fourth period and then pour eight points through the hoops in the overtime to beat Munising, 53-47.

Munising led, 11-8, at the quarter, 22-19 at the half and 32-28 going into the fourth quarter. With a 17-point rally in the fourth session, the Miners deadlocked the game at 45-all by the final gun and then really went to town in the extra canto.

Clarence Rivers and Paul Junttila proved to be an unbeatable combination here last night. Rivers scored 14 points, and Junttila hit 15 for high point honors.

In preliminary encounters, Negaunee reserves won, 46-29, and Negaunee junior high triumphed, 24-14.

Maroons Defeat Eskymos, 33-30

The luckless Escanaba Eskymos lost another close one here last night!

It was Menominee who turned the trick this time by a score of 33-30.

Escanaba held a 5-2 lead at the quarter and a 14-12 margin at halftime, but a big third quarter for the visitors spelled the difference. The Eskymos were held scoreless from the field in the field in the third period and gathered only five free throws to 12 points for the Maroons. That was it.

TRICKY TROJAN—One of the mainstays of the Escanaba St. Joseph's quintet, which boasts a 7-2 record to date, is Philip Legault, who teams with Center Jack Miron and Forward Gerald Harris on the front line. Legault is a senior this year. Capable any minute of breaking into a rash of baskets, Legault will be seen in action at William Bonifas tonight when the Trojans are host to the Gladstone Braves. (Photo by Dick Juetten)

Inability to connect consistently on fairly short shots proved costly for the Eskymos. Although they led at the quarter and half, they could well have gone into the third quarter with a 10 to 12 point margin had they been able to score more consistently. They had several chances.

Maroons Take Lead

Hitting only four out of 12 free throws the first half also hurt, but the Eskymos came back to make it an even .500 with eight out of 12 the last half. So you can't pin the loss on missed free throws. It was inpet shooting the first half, particularly in the first quarter, and Menominee's big third quarter that did it.

The Eskies appeared overanxious in the pinch, a factor that spoiled their timing and paved the way for just enough inaccurate passing to turn the tide in Menominee's favor.

Be that as it may, the Eskymos tried hard to beat the Maroons and kept punching all the way.

Menominee took the lead at the start of the second half on quick baskets by Dick Deschaine, Bob Brink and Billy Wells and never relinquished it the rest of the way.

Close Margin

Trailing 24-19 at the end of the third quarter, the Eskymos closed the gap to 26-24 on two long one-handed push shots by Gary Abrahamson from the identical spot and a free throw by Harold Pearson. Pearson's field goal closed it to two points again at 30-28 with four minutes and 13 seconds remaining.

If there was a clincher in this game it was young Dick Shatusky's dog shot in the clear with the clock showing only one minute of play remaining. It was a tip-off play from the Menominee free throw circle. Shatusky took a long pass and scored unhampered to make it 32-28.

Big Warren Gustafson, who topped the scoring for the evening with 12 points, dropped a short one at the 45-second mark, but Brink dropped a free throw with a half minute to go that capped it at 33-30.

Deschaine led Menominee with 11 points.

Play Five Extra Periods; Still Tied, 99 to 99

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Two small Ohio schools—Marietta and Capital—featured play in Collegiate Basketball last night.

They battled through five extra periods before Marietta was adjudged the victor, 100-99 by edict of the referees, Tom Vernia and Don Hair. They abided by the scoreboard which showed Marietta ahead, although the tally of the official scorebook had the score tied at 99-99.

Trojan Girls' Team Plays Rock Monday

St. Joseph's Trojans girls' basketball team will play the Rock girls in a return game at Rock at 8 Monday evening. The St. Joe seventh and eighth graders will meet in a preliminary there at 7. Mary Doris Costley is in charge of the St. Joe girls, and Buddy Laviolette is coaching the Trojans.

Max Zaslofsky, Chicago; Joe Fulks, Philadelphia; Ed Sadowski, Boston; Howie Dallmar, Philadelphia, and Bob Feerick, Washington, were named to the all star team of the Basketball Association of America last season.

Michigan State College will play six consecutive football games at home next year. Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State, Temple and Notre Dame will be the opponents.

Today a year ago—Barbara Ann Scott of Canada won the European women's figure skating championship.

Three years ago—Doc Blanchard, Army football star, was named winner of the Sullivan award as 1945's leading amateur athlete.

Five years ago—Babe Didrikson was given back her amateur status by the U. S. Golf association.

Ten years ago—The New York Giants defeated the football All-Stars, 13-10, at Los Angeles.

Packers Coming To Play Hardwares, Who Plan To Put Clamp On The 'Jug'

The basketball variety of Green Bay Packers, paced by one Earl (Jug) Girard who spent most of the football season on the Packer bench, will be on display in the William Bonifas gym here Wednesday night, Jan. 26, in a game against the Escanaba Delta Hardwares, Upper Peninsula independent champions.

This was assured yesterday when Cliff Beaudin, jr., manager of the Hardwares, receivd a telegram from Tim O'Brien, Packer basketball manager, saying O'Briens Bay cagers would be here for sure.

Although Girard did not exactly set the National Professional Football league on fire in his freshman year, he is down in the books as a first-rate basketball player. In many Packer games to date, he has been the top scorer.

JUG GIRARD

With the well-known Jug — a product of the Marinette high schoool—are such stalwarts as Nolan Luhn, former Tulsa football and basketball star; Ken Keuper, former varsity player at Georgia university before joining the Packers; Tony Canadeo, who needs no introduction; Andy Uram, former Packer star, and big Ted Fritsch, who goes in for a bit of basketbal clowning on the side.

It's a safe wager the Bonifas gym will be filled with several football fans as well as the basketball faithful come January 26, for this opportunity to see such stars as Canadeo and Fritsch at close range and without the customary moleskin covering is a rare one, indeed.

The Hardwares would like nothing better than to tip the Packers. Chief reason for this desire is the fact that Monsieur Girard figurely prominently in the Hardwares only defeat to date.

The Escanabans traveled to Peshtigo the other night and had a 58-58 tie until the last three seconds of play, when Girard dunked in the field goal that handed them their first loss of the season. They'll be out to put the clamp on the Jug here January 26.

Escanaba VFW Five, Crystal Falls Meet At Bonifas Sunday

The Escanaba VFW cagers, off to a fast start in the second half of the NWM cage circuit, with a 44-36 victory over Iron River on the latter's court last Wednesday night, will be out to keep their second half record clear when they battle Crystal Falls here tomorrow night.

The fast NWM tilt will be played in the William Bonifas gym at 8:30. A preliminary is being arranged between Delta Hardwares, 1947-48 U. P. independent basketball champions, and Powers-Spalding.

ANNUAL FIRE LOSS HEAVY

Burned Property Valued At $700,000,000

By ROGER W. BABSON

New York City.—Last year U. S. property was destroyed by needless fires amounting to $700,000,000. In addition about 15,000 people lost their lives. Property can be replaced but lives cannot be. Be sure that this year 1949 your house is not burnt with you in it. All who lost their lives last year could be alive and happy today.

About 25 per cent of the fires are due to smoking—mostly cigarette smoking. About 20 per cent are due to defective wiring, overloading present wires and misuse of flexible cords. 15 per cent of the fires are set; while the balance are due to various causes. These mostly could be classified as "carelessness and bad housekeeping."

It is also interesting to note that most fires start in basements of homes, factories and stores. If basements were kept clean, the total fire loss could be reduced 30 per cent. Closets and attics are also a source of danger. I hope each reader of this column will start 1949 by giving his basement, attic and closets a good cleaning out. Don't be afraid to throw stuff away!

Back Your Firemen

Considering the tremendous loss stated above, you at first think that the fire departments have been lax and inefficient. This is not so. I believe that the fire departments of our cities are the most efficient of all city departments. Just think—if it were not for your fire department your entire city would now be in ashes.

Also remember that all fires are ultimately extinguished. 90 per cent of the fires are extinguished by the fire departments before the loss amounts to $500. This is pretty good and usually is due to someone quickly pulling a little red fire alarm box. In fact, there never was a fire (unless caused by explosion) which could not have been extinguished by one bucket of water if discovered in time.

When your city council or selectmen ask the advice of their Health or Legal Department or Building Inspector they act upon the advice. When, however, the fire chief asks for new equipment or more fire alarm boxes he is partly given the brush off. This is wrong.

Fire chiefs know what is best for their city and the taxpayers. Hence, all their requests for appropriations should be granted, including recommendations for salary increases. Considering their responsibilities, the firemen and their chief are the poorest paid of all city employees. Your fire chief is your best friend.

Suggestions To Readers

The best kind of fire protection is a sprinkler system connected with the fire alarm system. Another less expensive but very efficient system, is the so-called "Vigalarm Rate-of-Rise"—System, connected with the fire department. This does not extinguish the fire as do sprinklers but it automatically calls the fire department before the fire gets underway.

For most buildings, either of the above systems is perfect protection. For a tenant in a block of stores it is only partial protection. He may do all he can to protect his store; but if a restaurant is next door without protection, then the careful storekeeper is handicapped. Legislation should be enacted so when the majority of the property owners of any city block want sprinkler or automatic protection, all the property owners in this block must join.

Fire Alarm Boxes

The little red fire alarm box on the corner of your street is also a friend of yours. And be sure that there is a box at each corner so that whichever way you or some passer-by runs, he will quickly find a box to pull. This is especially important as so many fires start when no one is in the home, store or building and the fire chief is dependent upon a passer-by.

To depend upon a telephone is dangerous. In the excitement the telephone operator or the fire department often misunderstands the correct address. Too many street names sound alike and too many excited women, telephone only: "Come quickly my house is on fire", without giving any address!

Mrs. Edward Lange Dies At LaBranche Ill For Three Years

Mrs. Edward Lange, 65, died at 4 p. m. Friday at her home in LaBranche. She had been in poor health for three years and was seriously ill the past two weeks.

She was born, Christina Rasmussen, in Bark River, October 26, 1883, and moved to LaBranche as a child.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Donald, of Richland, Wash., a daughter, Mrs. Victor Mankiewicz, of Rock, three grandchildren and one brother, William Rasmussen, of Hardwood.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyle funeral home chapel in Bark River Monday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Maynard E. Hanson officiating, and burial will be in Bark River cemetery. Friends of the family may call at the funeral home beginning at 7 this evening.

Obituary

PETER N. PETERSON

Final rites for Peter N. Peterson, pioneer Escanaba editor, were held at 2 this afternoon at the Anderson funeral home with burial in Lakeview cemetery.

Rev. Gustav Lund of Bethany Lutheran church conducted the service. C. Arthur Anderson sang "Still, Still With Thee" and Miss Ruth Glad sang "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, Thou City Blest." Miss Glad played the accompaniment.

Pallbearers were C. P. Johnson, Gunnar Nelson, Dr. Rudolph Erickson, Victor Anderson, Emil Stenstrom and Gust Leaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Carlson and son, Paul, jr., of Gary, Ind., were among those at the services.

FRED J. EARLE

Private funeral services for Fred J. Earle, prominent Escanaba civic leader, will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Allo funeral home chapel. Rev. James H. Bell of the First Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest cemetery. Friends of the family may call at the funeral home this evening and until 1 p. m. Sunday.

Unified Health Fund Drive Launched At Kickoff In Lansing

Lansing (AP) — The Michigan United Health and Welfare Fund drive was underway Friday with the blessing of Henry Ford, 11, representing management, and the state's top labor leaders.

"The unified drive makes sense," Ford said of the united campaign to be conducted by 18 fund-raising agencies; "And it will raise more money for those who need it."

The young head of the Ford empire spoke here to a group of 250 sponsors attending the kick-off dinner for the appeal he helped organize a year and a half ago.

Ford mentioned the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis and the National Red Cross as two agencies who had refused to cooperate in the drive. He named Basil O'Connor, head of the two groups, as one of those opposed to the plan.

"I hear," Ford said, "and mind you this is only a rumor, that there will be a new president of the Red Cross—someone who is interested in unified drives."

Ford's statement brought a prompt denial from O'Connor.

The Red Cross president, reached in Chicago, said there was "nothing to it."

"I'd like to know where Ford heard the rumor," O'Connor said. "If the American Red Cross is going to have a new president, I don't know about it."

American-Improved Jet Engine Has High Static Push

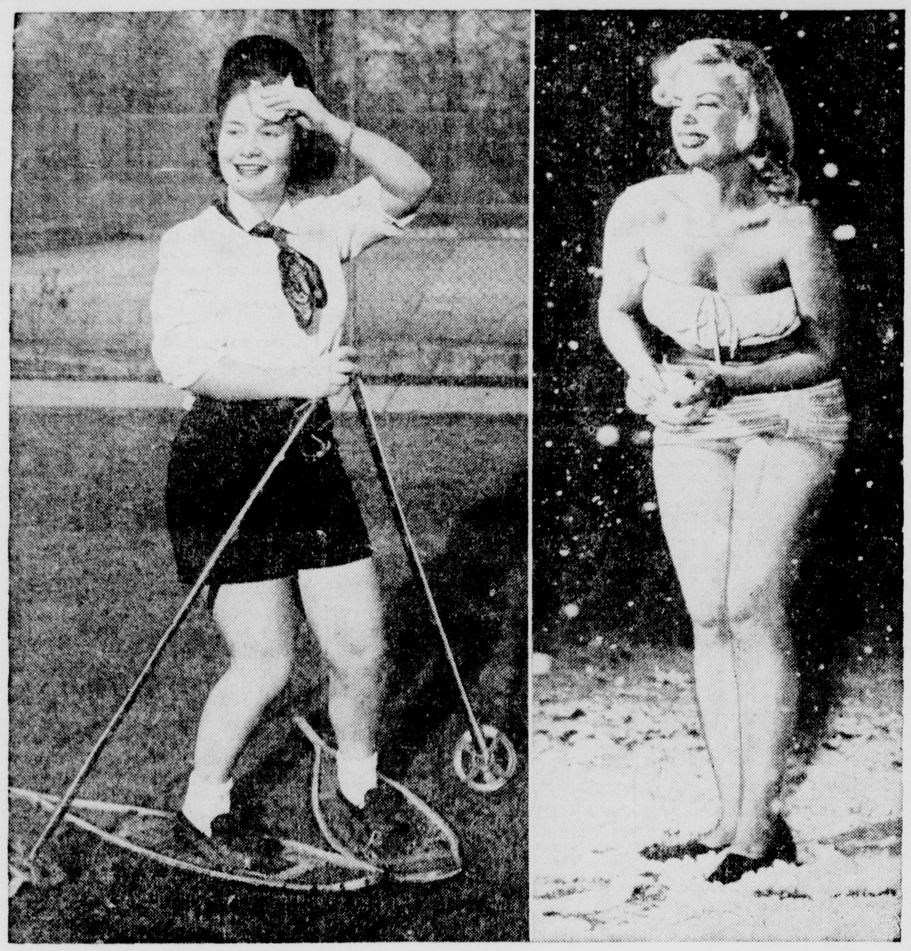

East Hartford, Conn.,—An American-improved, British-designed jet engine, which recently successfully completed its official 150-hour military test, is now in production and is said to deliver a static thrust of 5,000 pounds, the highest yet announced for any American jet engine.

At 650 miles an hour or more, 5,000 pounds of thrust is equivalent to almost 9,000 horsepower, Pratt and Whitney engineers here stated in revealing the new engine. It wil be kown as the JT-6B Turbo-Wasp, and will be used first in the Grumman F9F-2 Panther, a Navy carrier-based fighter with an announced speed of over 600 miles an hour.

This Turbo-Wasp is a pure jet propulsion power plant, with a single-stage, double-entry centrifical compressor, nine combustion chambers and a single-stage axial flow gas turbine. The basic design of the engine was the work of Rolls-Royce in England. Pratt and Whitney acquired the United States manufacturing and sales rights to this British Nene in May 1947, and has since made extensive changes in accessory case design to meet U S. Navy requirements.

FIRST WOMAN ENGINEER

Oslo (AP)—In eight months the Norweigan merchant fleet will have its first woman engineer. Tora Skaltveit has attended a two year technical school, and is now serving the required time of 15 months as a stoker in the engine room of the ship "Ternefjell."

OL' MAN WINTER AIN'T WHAT HE USED TO BE — Southern California is freezing and snow-swept; the usually icy shores of Lake Erie and points east are enjoying June in January. In Cleveland, O., a city normally buffeted by chill blasts off Lake Erie, the annual winter carnival at Flora Stone Mather College was postponed on account of no winter. Jean Gall, left donned snow shoes, but she couldn't use them on the bright green grass. Skating and snow-sculpturing events were scheduled but there was neither snow nor ice. Out in "sunny" California, however, there was plenty of snow. New Orleans-born actress Cleo Moore, right, got her first taste of fun in the snow, after finishing her sun bath—under an artificial lamp.

FATHER ISN'T BOSS IN HOME

Traditional Family Is Passing Out

Ithaca, N. Y., (SS)—The traditional type of family in which Dad lays down the law, and Mother does not interfere with his discipline is probably on the way to extinction in America.

This is the tentative prediction of Dr. Hazel L. Ingersoll, of the Department of Child Development and Family Relationships of Cornell University, here. Her conclusion is based on the study of how 37 families are ruled.

Whether Dad or Mom "wears the pants" in your own family depends at least in part on the sort of families they grew up in, Dr. Ingersoll found.

The man who grows up as a spoiled mama's boy tends to pick for a wife a girl who can take over management of the household, thus reproducing the pattern of his own boyhood home.

And the man, or the woman, who lived a life with father as the dominating figure is inclined to reproduce this pattern in his own marriage.

But if one parent comes from a home in which father was the undisputed boss and the other has had a dominant mother, then there is likely to be conflict between them over bringing up the children, with a resulting divided responsibility and authority. This "equalitarian" pattern of family government is also likely to be handed on to the children when they grow up to have families of their own.

The greatest number of families in the group studied by Dr. Ingersoll were of the type in which both father and mother share in the family responsibility or in which either father or mother led the group but did not dictate.

Details of the study are reported in the journal, Genetic Psychology Monographs.

Invention Stops Skidding On Ice

Washington, (SS)—Icy roads in the Midwest (and even in California) during the past week or two have made many a motorist wish he had something more drastic than mere tire chains for stopping scary skids. Just that is offered in an invention on which U. S. patent 2,459,016 has been granted here to an Omaha inventor, Abe Cohen.

It consists essentially in a pair of stout steel legs, hinged to collars that can be clamped around the rear axle housing, just inboard of the wheels. During normal driving these are held parallel to the road surface, and well clear of it, by the pull of a pair of coil springs.

When the car hits icy going and starts to skid, the driver shoves down on a pedal that actuates a hydraulic cylinder connected to a pair of secondary cylinders attached to the hinged legs. These promptly drop down to engage the road surface, taking the vehicle's load off its wheels and thus serving as a pair of powerful drag brakes, effectively stopping the skid.

In quieter times, these anti-skid props can also be put into service as rear-wheel jacks, for use when tires need changing.

Schedule Liquor Hearings Jan. 25

Two licensees, one from Delta and the other from Menominee county, have been notified to appear at the court house in Escanaba Jan. 25 before the liquor control commission for hearing on alleged violations of the liquor laws.

Henry J. DePuydt of Escanaba Rt. 1 is charged with two counts: Selling to or serving a minor; and permitting a minor to consume liquor on the premises. The complaint is made by the Delta county sheriff's department.

The Menominee & Marinette Brewing Co., Menominee, is charged with selling a case of beer without charging the proper cooperage. The complaint was made by liquor commission investigators.

No Strike Expected; Railroad Workers Continue to Dicker

Chicago, Jan. 15 (AP) — Presidents of 16 non-operating railroad unions and carrier officials planned further wage and hour talks next week, indicating no immediate strike by 1,000,000 rail workers.

The unions, under terms of the Railway Labor Act, will be free on Monday to call a strike at any time. Jan. 17 marks the expiration of the 30-day cooling off period after the presidential fact-finding board's report on the dispute.

The presidential board on Dec. 17 recommended a pay raise of seven cents an hour, retroactive to Oct. 1, and a 40-hour work week instead of 48 hours, effective next Sept. 1. The unions had asked a pay boost of 25 cents an hour, a 40-hour week, time and a half pay for Saturdays and double time for Sundays and holidays. The board estimated its recommendations would add $340,000,000 to the 1949 operating costs of the carriers.

Blue Cross Raises Hospital Charges

Lansing, (AP) — The 1,500,000 subscribers to the Michigan hospital service (Blue Cross) will pay 12 per cent more for their hospitalization insurance starting March 1.

State insurance commissioner David A. Forbes authorized the service to charge enough more to bring in an additional $2,600,000 annually.

Single persons will pay $1.80 a month for ward service instead of $1.50 and $2.10 for semi-private service instead of $1.80.

Families will pay $4.10 for ward service instead of $3.50 and $4.60 for semi-private instead of $4.

CAR LOADINGS ARE REDUCED

U. S. Railroads Report Slight Freight Drop

Lansing—Loading of revenue freight on American railroads totaled 42,833,902 cars in 1948, the Michigan Railroad Association announced. This was a reduction of 1,668,286 cars or 3.7 per cent compared with 1947.

Measured by the number of tons hauled one mile, the volume of freight traffic handled in 1948 was the greatest for any peacetime year, except in 1947 which exceeded it by 2 per cent. Freight traffic in 1948 was 43 per cent above the prewar peak in 1929.

Railroad freight traffic in 1948 was handled with an all-time record efficiency, the association declares. In that year, the average number of tons of freight moved per train exceeded all previous records. At the same time, the avearge speed of freight trains was somewhat higher than in any of the preceding six years. The average freight train thus turned out more net ton-miles of transportation service per hour than ever before. This increased efficiency with which freight was handled was accomplished by heavier loading of freight, an increase in the average capacity of freight cars, more powerful locomotives and the continued improvement that has taken place in signaling and operating methods.

Trade With Rupsia Takes Sharp Drop

Washington, (AP)—U. S. shipments to Russia dived below $50,000 in November for the third time in five months, the census bureau reported. In October, they had been $500,000.

In contrast Russian shipments to the U. S. increased to $6,700,000, up $1,400,000 from October.

The increase in receipts from Russia was due to a $2,400,000 rise in fur shipments, which amounted to $4,600,000 in November.

Russian shipments of manganese and chrome ore, vital metals which the U. S. is stockpiling for strategic purposes, dropped $1,100,000 to $1,400,000 in November.

Officials said this did not appear of particular significance, although recent reports in trade circles have been that Russian agents have unofficially indicated the Soviet may cut back on shipments of those vital metals.

A cutback might be the Russian answer to the virtual ban the U. S. has had on shipment of "war potential" and industrial goods to Russia and her satellites since last spring.

Cross-Wind Landing Gear For Airplanes Will Be Promoted

Washington,—The use of landing gear for airplanes, the cross-wind type which will permit safe landings on single runways regardless of the direction of the wind, is to be promoted during this year, the U. S. Civil Aeronautics Administration revealed in announcing the appointment of John H. Geisse to take charge of the program.

This so-called cross-wind landing gear, which has landing wheels on casters instead of fixed in a single position lengthwise with the plane, is to be promoted primarily as an economy measure in airport construction. Airports for all-weather use today have runways extending in several directions so that planes can land headed directly into the wind, or at an angle not over 22.5 degrees from directly into the wind. When planes are equipped with the cross-wind gear, one landing strip only will be required in light-traffic ports, and parallel strips can be used in others.

Weather Man Pays Little Attention To The Calendar Today

Chicago, Jan. 15 (AP)—The mercury wasn't paying much attention to the calendar today.

The week of Jan. 14-22 is the winter period when the lowest normal temperatures may be expected, says federal forecaster J. M. Porter. But above normal readings were forecast for most of the country today—after yesterday's comparatively mild temperatures.

However, a mass of cold air headed from northwest Canada southward over the northern Rockies and western North Dakota. Some snow accompanied the cold air, which is expected to extend over South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa over the weekend. A low of 15 below was predicted for North Dakota tonight.

Northern New England and the Pacific Northwest were the coldest spots today, with readings around zero. There was light rain from Texas northeastward through Oklahoma and Missouri to the upper Mississippi Valley and Western Great Lakes area.

Device To Check Metabolism Built By U. M. Scientists

Ann Arbor, Mich., (AP)—University of Michigan researchers reported they have constructed a device they hope will help them gain further understanding of metabolism.

The device, a delicate scale that can weigh atoms and molecules, is called a "mass spectrometer."

Dr. William D. Robinson, director of the Rackham Arthritis research unit, said the spectrometer will be used in the fight against diabetes, kidney trouble, gland disorders and gout.

A full knowledge of metabolism would enable the researchers to detect disturbances in body chemistry which produce illnesses, Dr. Robinson said. It is hoped, he said, that clues to arthritis and cancer might be uncovered.

Working with him are Henry J. Gomberg, instructor in electrical engineering and Dr. Isadore Lampe, associate professor of roentgenology.

The researchers plan to inject tracer substances into the molecules under study and use the spectrometer to follow them through metabolism until they are either converted into tissue or blood or broken down and eliminated.

Fall Of Tientsin May Be Curtains For Chiang's Rule

Reds, whose leader, Mao Tze-Tung, only yesterday laid down an eight point peace program and punctuated it with the boast that more military victories would bring Chiang's government to its knees.

The reaction of officialdom in Nanking to his eight "peace terms," according to James D. White, Associated Press Correspondent there, was to vanish into meetings including one of the cabinet.

Unofficial Chinese reaction was that Mao's terms were "very fierce" and leave no room for bargaining.

Chang Chien-Hua, Manchurian legislator who has been promoting his own peace program, said:

"The Red demands are too high—just like Chiang Kai-shek's. However, long as they express interest in peace there is still hope but if they really want peace they will have to soften their demands to some extent."

Peace Not Hopeless

Shao Li-Tze, Nanking elder statesman who has been advocating peace and refused a post in the present Chinese cabinet, said:

"The government will have to consider these terms. It does not mean the door to peace is closed."

The Communist radio Friday broadcast the terms for peace—punishment of "war criminals" including President Chiang, knock out the constitution, junk the kuomintang (Chiang's party), split up the army and set up a Red dominated government.

Tientsin was without water and power as fires raged in several sections of the city.

Within a few hours after nationalist resistance collapsed, the Reds extended their control over all of the city.

Full details of the capture of China's foremost industrial city, which was the headquarters of U. S. marines when they landed in China at the end of the war with Japan, were hidden by a complete breakdown of communications between the city and outside points late in the day.

Army Searchlight Display Planned During Ice Revue

The opening of the 1949 Escanaba Ice Revue at the indoor rink at the fair grounds Feb. 3, and on each night of the four-day show will have some aspects of a Hollywood premier, says George Grenholm, city recreation director.

Through the courtesy of the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station in Escanaba an 80-million candlepower searchlight will be shipped to Escanaba from Detroit to be used in cloud-lighting displays each night at the fair grounds. The powerful searchlight, mounted on two trailer units, was used during wartime for anti-aircraft defense.

The searchlight is being procured through the courtesy of Sgt. Jack Scherer of the Escanaba recruiting station. The ice revue will be held Feb. 3, 4, 5 and 6.

BUDGET HAS SURPLUS

Ottawa, Jan. 15 (AP)—Finance Minister D. C. Abbott reports a Canadian budgetary surplus of more than $600,,000,000, the first nine months of the current fiscal year. As of Dec. 31, revenues were $1,956,208,479 and expenditures were $1,346,258,780.

King Richard I of England died of a shoulder wound inflicted by a crossbow bolt during the wars in France, a wound which was fatal because of unskillful treatment or his own lack of care.
